Coal Miners Prepare for Friday Walkout

STRIKE SURE OBSERVERS BELIEVE

Pinchot's Plea for Peace Is Not Acceptable in Operators' Opinion

HAZELTON, Pa., Aug. 30.—In anticipation of a strike in the anthracite coal region many miners today began to remove their tools from the underground workings, and will quit tomorrow night. They will take this action in response to the notice to the local unions that they are to suspend work September 1 in the absence of any new agreement. It appears certain even if terms are reached tomorrow thousands of men will be idle Saturday.

By GEORGE E. DURNO
For International News Service

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 30.—Hope for settlement of the anthracite coal strike, scheduled for Saturday, was dim today.

Predictions that the program of settlement outlined by Governor Gifford Pinchot late yesterday would be rejected, were voiced by those close to both operators and miners.

It was the operators who would make a flat rejection, however, according to the statement of those close to Samuel D. Warriner and his committee from the anthracite operators' association. It was expected the miners would eventually sign on the dotted line, particularly if it is learned definitely the operators will reject.

Fail to Agree

Following failure to agree last night on a contract for maintenance men to be left at the pumps of the mines in the event of a strike, the operators and miners came to terms this morning.

James A. Gorman, joint secretary of the conferences between the two factions announced that the operators had agreed to sign a contract by which all maintenance men, working on the basis of a ten-hour day, shall be placed on the basis of an eight-hour day, receiving their regular wage, plus $1.80 daily for the period of the strike.

This agreement announced by Gorman, assures the fine properties from destruction by water in event of a walkout.

Operators' Views

The operators, it was learned from authoritative sources here today, take the following stand on the governor's proposals:

The wage question:

A 10 per cent increase is beyond reason; such an increase suggested by the governor will only tend to add to the unrest in the coal fields if not granted; a wage in-

LEEDS' FORTUNE TO STAY IN U. S.

Death of Princess Anastasia Leaves Millions for Tinplate Heir

LONDON, Aug. 30.—The great Leeds fortune will stay in America, following the death last night of Princess Anastasia, wife of Prince Christopher of Greece and formerly Mrs. William B. Leeds, widow of the American tin plate magnate.

The bulk of the fortune goes to the Princess' son, William, and in the event of his death will revert to the New York Lying-in Hospital, as was the wish of the late William B. Leeds, tin plate king, who had his will drawn so that his fortune could never be broken up or dissipated.

With Princess Anasthasia at the time of her death were Prince Christopher, the Queen Mother Olga, William B. Leeds, Jr., and his wife, Princess Xena. It is thought likely that the body will be sent to the United States for burial in the family mausoleum at Woodlawn cemetery, New York.

COUNCIL TO GET DEEDS FOR ROAD

Sierra Avenue's Extension Among Subjects for Tonight's Session

The city council tonight is expected to receive deeds, which have been secured by Assistant City Engineer V. B. Stone, to permit the extension of Sierra avenue to Glendale boulevard, which ultimately will provide a direct connection to Pasadena.

The property being received tonight consists of a strip about 1000 feet long from the Jones and Pagliuso ranches.

With one exception all property owners on Sierra avenue have agreed to deed eighteen and a half feet in front of their property to the city. This will enable the street to be widened from thirty-three to seventy feet or the same width as Glenoaks boulevard.

Deeds from Mr. and Mrs. John Levy of Santa Monica to permit the rounding of the southwest corner of Stanley avenue and Verdugo road and from Mr. and Mrs. George L. Person of 2150 Kenneth road to permit the rounding of the southeast corner of Kenneth and Grandview roads will be received tonight also by the city council.

North Central Folks Desire Better Lights

Property owners of North Central avenue met last night in the offices of Charles B. Guthrie, 110 West Broadway, to consider a request that is to be submitted to the City Council, asking that two-light standards be erected on Central avenue from Wilson street north to the Wash, the new standards to replace the one-light standards that are now in use. W. S. Bear, 220 North Central, presided.

A petition that was circulated last spring, asking that the two-light standards be erected, but this type of lights has been installed only as far north as Wilson. It is asserted by residents of North Central avenue that the volume of traffic over this thoroughfare is greater than any other in the city, with the exception of Brand boulevard. Better street lighting is a necessity. A strong delegation will be present to submit their request to the City Council.

SCOUT SHOW TONIGHT

In the three-act Boy Scout play given tonight at the Glendale Union High school auditorium by the Beaver patrol, the idea will be to show how Scouts act on hiking trips. Besides the play, there will be a feature film, "Young America," and a hilarious comedy, in addition to another short Scout drama. The performance will start at 7:30 o'clock, tickets on sale at the door.

COMMITTEES REPORT AT BAR MEET

World Conference to Clarify International Law Is Urged by Jurists

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 30.—The first set addresses out of the way, the American Bar Association today began the first real work of the session, when a number of important committees reported and submitted resolutions for adoption.

The association's committee on international law, through George W. Wickersham, attorney general in the Taft administration, urged the association to lend its aid toward the calling of a conference of nations in continuance of the two former conferences at The Hague for the purpose of clarifying and extending the rules of international law. Three members of the committee, in addition, recommended that the association declare for participation by the United States in the world court. Mr. Wickersham, George Donworth of Seattle, chairman of the committee, and James Brown Scott of Washington, delegate to the second Hague conference, signed this supplemental report. Robert Lansing, secretary of state under President Wilson, member of the committee, does not join in the world court recommendation.

To Protect Aliens

The committee on jurisprudence reported in favor of legislation by congress designed to protect aliens from state laws or local prejudice in violation of the rights of foreigners under United States treaties with other nations. This report raised the question of Pacific coast legislation against Japanese and Hindus and is expected to precipitate lively debate. The criminal law section of the association, through Justice Floyd E. Thompson of the supreme court of Illinois, declared in a report for a uniform criminal code throughout the United States.

U. S. S. COLORADO IS COMMISSIONED

Mighty Man of War, Costing $27,000,000, Now in U. S. Navy Service

By H. K. REYNOLDS
For International News Service

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 30.—One of the biggest and most powerful battleships in the world was added to the United States navy today, when the U. S. S. Colorado, recently completed at a cost of $27,000,000, was formally accepted from her builders and commissioned by Captain Martin E. Trench, commandant of the Philadelphia navy yard.

The Colorado and her sister ship, the West Virginia, are the last super-dreadnaughts which the United States will put into service for at least ten years, construction of additional new battleships being prohibited during that period by the Washington naval treaty.

Simple Ceremonies

Simple ceremonies marked the commissioning of the Colorado, the festivities which usually accompany such an important naval event being dispensed with because of the public mourning over the death of President Harding.

The new crew of the big warship, 1400 strong, and commanded by Captain Reginald Rowan Belknap, who was in charge of the American mine-laying squadron in the North sea during the World war, assembled at the navy receiving station, across the Delaware river from Camden. The officers and men came over in small boats and, after stowing away their personal effects in their new quarters, were massed aft on the main deck.

After accepting the ship from the builders, Captain Trench read an order from Secretary of the Navy Denby putting the vessel into commission, and then formally turned the ship over to Captain Belknap.

Dreams of Future Cities in Verdugo Hills Revealed

Mayors Robinson and Crawford of Neighbor Communities Gather Councils Around Banquet Board at Egyptian Village

By H. THOMPSON RICH
Of The Evening News Staff

CREATION of a joint planning commission to visualize and harmonize the broad-gauge dreams of the Glendale City Council and Burbank Board of Trustees, was the dominant thought at last night's dinner meeting of the two bodies, in Jensen's Egyptian Village Cafe on North Brand boulevard. Mayor Spencer Robinson of this city welcomed the neighboring ordinance-makers with the words, "We're just one big, happy family of those behind two wonderful municipalities," and told them that his idea would be to perpetuate this get-together in the form of a periodic gathering of the two bodies.

"The days of family albums and wax flowers have passed," said Glendale's singing mayor, "and we are in a new age. We need for this new age a new vision and a new purpose."

CRAWFORD RESPONDS FOR BURBANK

Mayor J. C. Crawford of Burbank spoke briefly on "The Ultra-Conservative Californian" who, he said, "was here before us—and all he has is a small automobile and a large family! This ultra-conservative type has been too skeptical to make money in California. It has been the optimists who have developed this country, and who have reaped the rich rewards of their faith."

"We can scarcely imagine the destiny of the San Fernando valley," said Mayor Crawford later in his address.

"Don't worry about getting the people here. They will come. They are a secondary consideration. Let us make a valley worthy of the hundreds of thousands it will some day contain. That is the first consideration.

WARNS AGAINST L. A. ANNEXATION

"And gentlemen, let us not try the foolish experiment of annexing with Los Angeles. Let us maintain our own individuality, confident that we either have or can develop everything we require for our growth.

"And in this connection, do not let us neglect our subdividers. They are building our cities, bringing thousands of people here, developing miles upon miles of streets, beautifying the entire countryside."

Mayor Crawford then thanked Mayor Robinson and the Glendale City Council for the delightful banquet and evening of fruitful interchange of ideas, expressing before he took his seat the hope that this was simply the forerunner of many such affairs, and predicting that the Burbank Board of Trustees would presently act as host to the Glendale official body.

FOOTHILL DRIVE GETS BOOST

Many projects for the development of the neighboring cities were brought up and discussed at last night's gathering but by all means the most important and far-reaching of these was the proposal of a great foothill drive through the Verdugo hills, from the end of Mountain street east and north to Sparr Heights, La Crescenta and Michigan avenue, opening up, according to Councilman W. A. Horn, a territory as magnificent as that served by the proposed Mulholland drive, Los Angeles, or the scenic drive in the hills above Oakland.

"The hills have arrived!" declared W. L. Twining, prominent local realty man, who was one of the guests. "People coming to Southern California from the east are seeking the hills. They want to get just as high up as they can. To them, the hills signify Southern California. Gentlemen, untold millions lie locked up in our beautiful Verdugo hills!"

SUFFICIENT WATER FOR EVERYBODY

The proposal of opening a scenic drive into these hills was favorably received. It was shown that there is water enough in the Verdugo valley to supply every foot of the entire

MUSSOLINI CONCENTRATES ITALY'S TROOPS, SHIPS AS ULTIMATUM IS DELIVERED OVER SLAYING OF ENVOY

Killing Of Italian Commissioner Brings Nations to Brink Of War; May Invoke League's Aid

LONDON, Aug. 30.—6:45 p. m.—Greece has agreed to pay $2,500,000 indemnity for the Italian officials of the Albanian boundary commission who were assassinated near Janina, according to a Central News dispatch from Athens.

ROME, Aug. 30.—Greece's reply to the Italian ultimatum had not been received up to 6 o'clock this evening. Premier Mussolini in reporting to the cabinet said:

"We claimed necessary reparations from Greece. All adequate measures have been taken."

LONDON, Aug. 30.—3:30 p. m.—Widespread anti-Greek disorders are reported, said a Central News dispatch from Rome. The Italian government is calling the fascisti forces to help maintain order.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—The Italian fleet at Taranto has been ordered to clear for action and a movement against Greece may take place at any moment, said a Milan dispatch to the Evening News.

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

WITH peace in the Near East only a few weeks old and the nations of Europe still turbulent and restive from the great war, the grim shadow of a new conflict appeared upon the horizon today. Italy sent an ultimatum to Greece demanding reparations and an apology for the killing of General Tellini, the Italian head of the allied commission for the delimitation of the Albanian frontier, and four of Tellini's colleagues.

As soon as the ultimatum was sent reports of naval and troop movements began to pour out of Italy and Premier Mussolini was said to be making war plans with military and naval officials.

Advices from London said that the allied statesmen were opposed to another war and that the League of Nations might be invoked to maintain peace.

Greece to Apologize And Pay Indemnity

ATHENS, Aug. 30.—At a meeting of the Greek ministers today it was decided to agree to only part of the demands made by Premier Mussolini of Italy, in the Italian ultimatum. Greece, it was understood, would ask modification of the other demands.

President Gonatis, president of the council, who was absent from Athens, began a study of the Italian note on his return. He said he felt the greatest indignation over the murders and did not believe they had been committed by Greeks. President Gonatis said he believed that the assassins were Albanians who were disgruntled over decisions of the boundary commission.

The Athens government, it was said, was willing to express sorrow over the assassinations and pay indemnity to the families of the slain Italians, but could not accept humiliating conditions.

In the event of a deadlock between Greece and Italy, Greece may propose that the matter be

U. S. PLANS FREE VETS' HOSPITALS

Director Hines Would Drop Restrictions, to Take Care of 4 Million

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—Free hospital treatment for all of America's 4,000,000 world war veterans would be furnished by United States veteran bureau under a new plan evolved by Director Frank T. Hines, International News Service learned today.

The proposal, which contemplates throwing open government hospitals to all former service men who saw honorable service in the world war, will shortly be laid before President Coolidge for official approval. If the president endorses the plan, congress will be asked to enact the authorization at its next session.

Would Drop Restrictions

Director Hines plans to utilize government institutions in caring for ex-service men who fall sick whether or not the illness is due to war wounds. If the president and congress approve, all restrictions on the admission of veterans probably will be dropped early next year.

By this arrangement any veteran taken ill would be eligible for admission to the nearest government hospital for free treatment on the presentation of an honorable discharge testifying to his war service.

Mrs. McGahie came south with her niece and is visiting relatives in Los Angeles. She plans to spend the next week-end at the Campbell home in Glendale. Miss Campbell is to enter Pomona college the middle of September.

H. Baird. Mr. Farrell motored north the latter part of the week in order to make the return trip home with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Whaley and son, Kenneth, of 233 North Maryland avenue, have just returned from an enjoyable two months' overland trip taking them as far north as Vancouver and Victoria, British Columbia. They visited Crater Lake, Yosemite, Lake Tahoe, Yellowstone National park, and spent considerable time visiting the principal points of interest in Idaho, Montana, Washington and Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. David Francy of 136 North Kenwood street, are having the pleasure of entertaining as their house guest their daughter, Mrs. Maude Shelton of Chicago. Mrs. Shelton expects to spend two months here before returning to the east. Harry, Mark and Wilbur Francy just recently returned from San Diego, where they spent an enjoyable week and are now at Avalon, Catalina Island, for a week's outing.

Mrs. Ocker Home

Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker of 246 North Central avenue, who has been making an extensive tour of the east for the past nine and a half months, returned home Monday evening. Her sister, Mrs. Charles S. Robbins and infant son of New York, returned with her and will spend several weeks visiting here. Mrs. Ocker's itinerary included the principal cities and points of interest in Oklahoma, Missouri, Washington, D. C. and New York. While in New York she visited Niagara Falls, and spent several months with Mrs. Robbins at her summer home "Glenora" overlooking Seneca Lake.

During Mrs. Ocker's absence the new clubhouse of the Tuesday Afternoon club has been completed and formally opened and one of her keenest anticipations in returning to Glendale was seeing the new clubhouse. In addition to being a prominent member of the Tuesday Afternoon club, and serving on the gifts and memorials committee last year, Mrs. Ocker is active in the Glendale D. A. R. chapter, of which she is corresponding secretary.

On her trip she had the fortune to meet many eastern club women and D. A. R. members and she will undoubtedly have many interesting things to tell women of the Glendale organizations.

Shower for Bride

A bride's first shower is always a joyful event and every detail of the surprise shower Tuesday afternoon in honor of Miss Ruth Morton who is shortly to become the bride of Hugh Brice of Glendale, was of a nature to be long remembered.

Mrs. Lela Buckham of 332 West Lexington drive was hostess and her guests were all members of her Sunday school class at the First M. E. church. The house was decorated with greenery and quaint old-fashioned bouquets added the "bridal" touch to the pretty rooms.

A number of games had been arranged and at the close of a very jolly afternoon the bride-to-be followed the windings of many yards of red cord and found her gifts cleverly concealed about the house.

The guest list included Missses Florence Hamilton, Marian Farrand, Minnie Anderson, Julia Hull, Mildred Matthews, Bernice Coffey, Cora Hilton, Marjory Holway, Charlotte Cavell, Elizabeth Avent, Marian Grey, Doris Moyse, Inez Franklin, Esther Hartman, Myrtle Nelson, Charlotte Methvin, Mrs. C. With Mrs. Pettit

The West Wilson Avenue Needlecraft club was pleasantly entertained Tuesday afternoon at the attractive home of Mrs. John Pettit, 440 West Wilson avenue.

The club members received some very clever conundrums several days in advance which they were to work out and bring to the hostess in order to merit the pretty favors she had prepared. Seven of the guests, however, failed in their efforts to decipher the puzzles and therefore much to the surprise of their hostess arrived wearing ornamental "dunce-caps."

The afternoon proved a very merry one, every guest taking part in a charade and the favors were used in part as consolation prizes. Punch, ices and cake were served.

Those who enjoyed the afternoon were Mrs. Silvernail and Miss Silvernail of New York, Mrs. Pettit's house guests and guests of honor for the afternoon, Mrs. John McGregor, Mrs. Frank Stahl, Mrs. Frank Cheney, Mrs. Eda Lord, Mrs. Belle Taylor, Mrs. C. S. McKee, Mrs. Beck, Miss Ollie Beck, Mrs. E. E. Haw, Mrs. Olive Key.

Each guest was asked to come in costume and when the company arrived there were Colonial, Spanish, Turkish, Irish, Italian, Swedish and other characters cleverly portrayed.

The hostess was assisted by her sister Helen, who wore a clown suit.

Bright Japanese lanterns lighted the lawn, where games were enjoyed. Blanch Rankin in a Turkish costume, won two prizes, one for the circus game and the other for the "Barney Google" game.

Later a birthday lunch was served on a table decorated with marigolds and tiny favor baskets filled with candies. A large white birthday cake with candles was cut and served with ice cream.

Guests were Mary and Lydia Gibbs, Zelda and Vera Kocher, Elsie and Addie Cannon, Janet Phillips, Blanch Rankin, Lillian Kilgallon, Charlotte Kent, Gordon Graham.

Visit Alhambra

There were thirty-five St. Mark's Guild members and guests motoring yesterday afternoon to Alhambra to visit the old folks at the Episcopal Home for the Aged.

Mrs. Winters, matron at the home, and six old ladies and three old gentlemen, received them for an informal social time.

The home is most comfortably arranged, according to Mrs. F. S. Card, and the church women enjoyed visiting the large living room, dining room, individual rooms and the chapel.

Mrs. W. A. Holt, president of the home association, was present, and talked informally on the plans and aims, and invited the guests to visit the home again.

Miss Cora Wolter, pianist, went with the Glendale women to the home and entertained with several piano numbers.

Ice cream and cake were served and before departing the hosts and guests joined in several songs, finally saying farewell by singing "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

Expect Big Audience At Wayfarer Lecture

Keen interest is being manifested in Glendale circles over the lecture that is to be delivered tonight at the Tuesday Afternoon club's auditorium by Dr. James C. Crowther, author of The Wayfayer that is to be produced in the Coliseum in Los Angeles on September 8 to 15. Announcement of the lecture has been made through the local clubs, churches and other organizations, and a record crowd is expected to the clubhouse when the speaker begins his address at 8 o'clock.

Special interest is attached to the pageant because of the fact that the opening night has been set aside as Glendale night, with Mrs. Charles Temple, 145 North Orange, as Columbia, and it is the aim of Glendalians who are interested in the production of The Wayfarer to insure as large an attendance on the opening night and at tonight's lecture as possible.

Dr. Crowther tonight will explain the basic them eof the production, thus enabling those who attend to gain a clearer understanding of the pageant.

EAGLE ROCK

RULES IN DAHLIA SHOW GIVEN OUT

Eagle Rock Prepares for 1923 Event Next October, Says Mrs. Young

Rules for Eagle Rock's 1923 Dahlia Show, scheduled for October, are announced by Mrs. C. W. Young, who has been a leader in the dahlia movement of this community for years.

There will be eleven or more classes, as follows: Best general display, arranged for effect; largest collection from any one garden; largest bouquet cut from any one garden, not showing more than four of any one kind; artistic arrangement, in baskets; artistic arrangement, for dinner-table centerpiece; artistic miscellaneous set pieces; best vase of "Golden West"; largest specimen; most perfect specimen; best group of pompons, and best group of collarettes.

Following are among the rules:

List Regulations

Exhibits must be in position specified by schedule and shall not be removed except by consent of committee; decision of judges shall be final; class cards shall be enclosed in an envelope and must be sealed, the outside bearing nothing but exhibit entry; all dahlias exhibited must be grown by exhibitors; rewards will be based on merit alone; other specimens, not intended for exhibition, will gladly be received by the management; a single collection shall not compete for more than one prize; a set piece may be entered by two persons, jointly; the management may at any time order removal of exhibits in bad condition; the committee suggests that length of stems shall be twelve inches, that of pompons six inches.

Mrs. Young advises that the Dahlia Show this year will probably be run for two or more days. The exact date will be announced later. All residents of Eagle Rock who are amateurs are eligible for the competition.

Social and Personal

Rev. and Mrs. Finley of Long Beach are stopping at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Reily, 550 East Colorado boulevard, while they are enjoying a few days' vacation at Catalina island. Upon the Reilys' return they will entertain the Finleys for a few days. Miss Mary A. Bryant, who was for some time Mrs. Reily's guest, has returned to her home in San Antonio, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Williams of 151 North Kenilworth avenue are so delighted with General Grant park, after their recent trip there, that they have made arrangements to build a cabin on the site.

Mrs. Marion Thompson assures friends that she is now taking positively her last vacation of the summer. She is at Long Beach with her husband and daughter, Phronsa.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Bridge of Hermosa Beach, former residents of the house at Eddy and Highland avenues, are building a home in Burbank.

Haas and Devol Trip

J. Richard Haas and H. I. Devol, realtors of 204 East Colorado boulevard, have returned from a two weeks' trip with their families to San Diego and Tia Juana. With them went Miss Haas, a sister of Mr. Haas, of St. Louis, who is visiting here. The party were guests at San Diego of a brother of Mr. Haas, who was about to sit down to a big anniversary dinner when the party arrived. They went to the table at 6:30 o'clock at night and, according to Mr. Devol, left it not till 9:30 o'clock.

Miss Haas and the San Diego brother are still in the border city. They will motor up and through Eagle Rock on Saturday of this week, on the way to San Francisco.

This trip gave Mr. Haas and Mr. Devol an excellent opportunity to try out their new cars, both of the same make. They claim they brought Eagle Rock water back in their radiators and Eagle Rock air in their tires!

ECLIPSE TRIO IN MOON FESTIVITY

Doll Family Are Feature of Legion Carnival; Big Time Assured

Tujunga's fall carnival, the Moon Festival, under the auspices of the American Legion, Post 250, opens tomorrow for a four days' run at the Garden of the Moon park.

W. B. Heinsaker, well-known amusement promoter, is managing the festival for the Legion this year, and has gathered a group of capable entertainers for the event.

One of the headline attractions is the Swiss Doll family, two sisters and a brother, Grace, Daisy and Harry. Perfectly formed and normal in every respect except size, they are cultivated and talented musicians and entertainers.

Grace and Daisy are thirty-six inches tall, but their brother, Harry, is just a medium-sized man, about thirty-two inches tall. Needless to say, the sisters look down on him.

The Doll family has traveled with Barnum & Bailey. Their parents are normal size and they have a brother in the army who is six feet two inches tall. There is also a sister at home who is five feet seven inches tall, and a very young sister, who will enter the theatrical profession when she is of age.

Mrs. Kimmie Thomas is their business manager and travels with them as their companion.

Another "Small" One

"Baby" Marie Burke, who is said to be one of the fattest girls in the world, will also occupy space on the Midway---considerable space. They don't make automobiles big enough for Marie, so she has a specially built car to travel in with her husband, who is ticket taker. Married and happy, though fat, is the way she describes herself. She is a native daughter and has lived in California all her life. A lot of the Main street Arabs will probably be disappointed to learn that she has a husband.

A little further down the Midway is the Horned Reptile, one of three of this type in captivity. It is a diamond rattlesnake, eleven feet long, with nine rattles, and has a horn at the top of its head between its two beady yellow eyes. It was captured in Mexico about a year ago and lives on mice mostly. The horn is about an inch long, and is supposed to be as poisonous as the fangs.

Beside these attractions there are Hawaiian dancers and the Hindu Mystery, and other entertaining concessions.

On Sunday there will be a water carnival and swimming and diving exhibitions will be given by well-known amateurs. There will probably be competitive events for juveniles also. Plans have not yet been completed for this event.

Dances will be given every night in the open air pavilion, under the auspices of the American Legion, with Dick Smith, former proprietor of the pavilion in charge, assisted by ladies of the Auxiliary.

Asks Wife's Support

Charles E. Scranton, railroad mechanic, 362 South San Ysidro street, has brought suit for support and maintenance against his wife, Mary F. Scranton, in the superior court at Los Angeles, on the ground that he is an invalid, and that she is working and well able to provide, not only for herself, but for him, also.

In the complaint the husband stated that he has been an invalid for more than a year, that he has no income, but that his wife receives a salary in excess of $100 per month and that she also has other income of $50 per month.

The plaintiff alleges that on May 19 his wife forced him to leave his home and informed him that she didn't want him around any longer, and would not support him

LECTURE FRIDAY NIGHT

A course of scientific, popular and literary lectures will be given through the autumn and winter months at the E. R. A. Polyclinic at 903 South Central avenue. The opening lecture on Friday evening will be on "The Foundations of Science" by James H. Fisher.

Fire Chief Battles Flames in Tujunga Residence as Owners Are Absent

A fire alarm sent in from Tujunga last night called the local fire chief out at 9:15. Responding to the call, Fire Chief Young found a small residence on fire, the owners being away on their vacation. It will, no doubt, be quite a shock to the family on returning to find they now have no home.

A new real estate office is being erected on the northeast corner of Montrose and Pennsylvania avenues. It will be operated by a Mr. Carter in conjunction with a Glendale office.

Mrs. Jessie Hansen, girl scout leader, is confined to her bed with an attack of la grippe.

Dr. Hammond has returned from her auto trip up the coast. While north she visited in British Columbia and is very enthusiastic over the scenery in and around Lake Louise. Dr. Hammond does not, however, speak very well of the roads up in the north, nothing like the Southern California roads. Like all other vacationists, Dr. Hammond reports droves of autoists all headed this way for the winter.

Opens Realty Office

J. C. Merwin, formerly of the Haward-Merwin company, realty brokers, has opened an office at 612 Black building, Fourth and Hill, in Los Angeles. Mr. Merwin will still make his home here.

A lecture entitled "Visions and Voices" will be given by Rev. A. W. McClothlan in the La Crescenta School auditorium on Friday evening of this week. The lecture will be given under the auspices of the Service League of the local Community church and all the proceeds will go to the building fund of the church.

MONEY ALLEVIATES PAIN! HERE'S HOW

Investment in Sanitarium Is Sure Way to Help Those Who Suffer

Investors who purchase securities offered by the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital have twofold satisfaction when they consider the use to which their money is devoted.

They have the realization that they are personally aiding a project that is one of the prime factors in the building up of the city and in bringing here a class of citizens who are an asset to Glendale, and their money is also helping to alleviate human suffering and to spread happiness and health in hundreds of homes, not only here but in many other parts of America.

In addition to this, the monetary return from their investment, always an important item in matters of this kind, is secured by property that is steadily appreciating in value, while the business management of the institution is in the hands of men who have already proven their ability to conduct it successfully and profitably.

Profits to Be Expected

It is, therefore, reasonable to believe that the institution now being built to meet the needs of the community and of suffering humanity, will show the same profitable management and the same benefits to the investor in the future as in the past.

The fact that the governing body of the Seventh-Day Adventists, at its meeting in Los Angeles on Tuesday of this week, has again placed the same officers in charge of the institution is abundant proof of the confidence reposed in these men by the representatives of the entire denomination and the belief that the management of the new sanitarium will meet the expectations and hopes that attended the decision to enlarge the plant according to the plans that are now being put into operation.

COMMENT
That's All

Newspapers—Their Sphere.
Lesson for City Officers
Bryan and Prohibition.
Decentralization of Power.

By Gil A. Cowan

REGARDING the newspapers and their activity, Judge Harlan Palmer, editor of the Hollywood Daily Citizen, says in an editorial concerning the Los Angeles Crime Commission, which is dominated by the metropolitan publishers, that—

". . . it is founded on a theory that is absolutely false, absolutely unsound and absolutely contrary to good public policy.

"That false and unsound theory is the theory that the province of newspapers is to seek to secretly dictate how government should be conducted or to combine to direct editorial policies and reading matter.

"The true province of newspapers is to give the public the truth and let the public decide what action should be taken.

"This is a government where the people, not a combination of newspapers, are given the power to direct the conduct of government.

"Brought to a keen realization of the fact that the public appreciates that the newspapers have betrayed the public in entering into a combination for the control of the city government and for the control of editorial policies and news columns, the publishers are now seeking a way out to save their faces.

"Better that they acknowledge their error and abandon their little combination under the name of Crime Commission with its 'eminent' membership and its 'magnificent record,' and get back to a policy of seeking to perform some measure at least of genuinely sound and honorable public service.

"The public does not want the newspapers of Los Angeles to run the government.

"The citizens of this city would like, oh so much, to have the newspapers tell them the truth about their government, and then to have the confidence that would enable them to accept the truth when it might be printed."

In the state governor's chair we find Friend Richardson, newspaperman, who on several occasions has bluntly told certain Los Angeles editors where they could go—and it wasn't as close as China, either—when they endeavored to dictate policies.

And he has had sufficient backbone and grit to make even his friends relish the thought that Richardson is running the state.

Anyway, you do not see columns of complimentary "guff" about the "guv." Neither do you see them embroiling him in argument.

Municipal officeholders ought to be equally free to represent the people.

William Jennings Bryan is in Los Angeles. To editorialize about the silver-tongued speaker and oft-time candidate for president would be mere mockery of the words of Watterson, spoken in years gone by.

Instead of free silver the great Nebraskan has been talking prohibition. Here is part of a dispatch from Los Angeles that is interesting:

Prohibition is here to stay, the commoner declared, and jokingly he demanded, "When the bartenders' union of San Francisco says it is hopeless, why should anyone hold out?"

As to the possible candidates for president, Mr. Bryan said he did not care to discuss them. He did state that the Democrats had a good chance to win.

"Why should I make a monkey of myself by prophesying a specific candidate when the occurrence of tomorrow might necessitate a complete change of mind?" he asked.

The Pasadena Star-News endorses the manner in which the coal strike is being settled. It says editorially:

"Decentralization of national powers, a task that has been made extremely difficult by wartime experience, may have been undertaken by President Coolidge when he unshouldered the threatened coal strike problem upon Governor Pinchot, according to observers at the national capital today.

"Greater than the settlement of the strike; greater than the political fortunes of the principals; greater, even, it is believed by some, than any other issue before the American people today, is the move of Mr. Coolidge, should that prove to be the policy involved in his action, to localize the baffling industrial puzzle that will be solved by midnight next Friday, one way or another.

"National authority, during the war, became centralized, almost entirely, in the president and congress. Little by little, great additions of power have been delegated to the chief executive. President Wilson was said to have possessed more rights to act decisively than any previous chief magistrate. President Harding's were also augmented.

"It has remained, now, for Calvin Coolidge, if he so inclines, to inaugurate a policy that will return to the states and their officials innumerable rights, privileges and powers that have been slowly withdrawn by congress and delegated to the central government in Washington.

"This is admittedly a gigantic proposition and the hope is strong that Mr. Coolidge will not falter in returning to the wisdom of previous days in history."

India imported 740 automobiles and trucks and 400 motorcycles last May.

section. The prediction was made that within a few years, Glendale will be supplying Los Angeles with water, instead of the other way around.

Councilman Asa Hall chatted interestingly on the great flood of 1889, telling how it tore out miles of the railroad line and brought down three and one-half feet of sand onto the Burbank station platform.

Councilman C. E. Kimlin spoke of the new $600,000 Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, in the northeast section, of which he is general manager. "Men who have traveled the world over," he said, "have reported there is no finer location in America than those thirty acres."

ORCHESTRA ADDS TO EUPHONY

And that Jazz Colored Orchestra of Jensen's! How tunefully it mingled with the City Fathers' euphonious remarks, as they dreamed broad-gauge dreams of the San Fernando valley and swapped fishin' yarns by turn!

The following delegation from Burbank was entertained: Mayor J. C. Crawford, president of the Board of Trustees; and Trustees John Neilsen, I. S. Watson, E. T. Jackson, C. E. Hams; F. C. Miller, city engineer; and F. S. Webster, city clerk.

The Glendale official family and special guests comprised: Mayor Spencer Robinson, chairman of the City Council; and Councilmen C. E. Kimlin, S. A. Davis, Asa Hall, W. A. Horn; Benjamin F. Dupuy, city engineer; Peter Diederich, superintendent of plant and production; and W. L. Twining and Peter L. Ferry.

Coal Miners Prepare for Friday Walkout

The semi-check off:

The operators have no objections to the governor's plan, other than his statement that "full recognition should be given the union." A leading operator was authority for the statement this morning that "full recognition would not be granted."

The eight hour day:

The operators agree to this, with the minor exception of saying barn men, mule handlers and some of the laborers prefer the 12-hour day and should be allowed to retain it.

On the miners' side it was learned from authoritative sources the belief exists that the governor failed when he did not provide some method of insuring continued operation of the mines after Friday midnight.

The miners, with their full scale committee of forty members, met at the Penn-Harris hotel here, discussing the four proposals made by Governor Pinchot.

The operators had gone to Philadelphia, and today will pass upon the proposals.

At the state house here today, Governor Pinchot awaited the joint meeting of miners and operators set for noon tomorrow.

President Approves Pinchot's Program

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30. — President Coolidge fully approves the plan offered by Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania, to anthracite operators and miners to head off a shut-down in the hard coal fields, it was learned authoritatively at the White House this afternoon.

The president spent several hours studying the plan and reading reports from Harrisburg, and according to a White House spokesman, expressed renewed confidence that the way has been found to prevent a strike.

MARKETS

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—The stock market closed irregular today after showing strength in early trading. Profit-taking in large volume made its appearance in late trading and some of the speculative stocks which had made spectacular gains lost a good part of the advance. A few other issues, however, continued to be in demand.

Davison Chemical, following its high of 72, closed below 55. Gulf States Steel finished at 88, a net gain of 3 3-4. Steel common sold off from its early high of 94 to 92 3-4. Studebaker, Baldwin, American Can, Colorado Fuel and Corn Products dropped about 1 point each.

On the other hand, Savage Arms, Loose Wiles and Montana Power made substantial gains, the latter advancing 17 points on a few sales.

Government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds steady. Sales were 877,400 shares; bonds $5,773,000.

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—Rapid absorption of offerings influenced a firm close of the grain market, which did not react greatly to the threatening political developments abroad. Corn was stronger than wheat on reports of small offerings. Wheat closed 1-4 to 3-8 up. Corn was up 5-8 to a cent. Oats was 1-8 up to 1-4 off. Provisions were quiet.

GIANTS READY TO CLINCH PENNANT

Margin of Safety Sufficient For Any Old Team, Writer Opines

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—If John McGraw had handpicked the National league schedule for the ensuing two weeks, he hardly could have arranged matters to the greater satisfaction of the New York Giants. The latter will either win the pennant within the interval named or prove themselves the finest inopportunists since the Pittsburgh Pirates failed to preserve a seven and a half game lead late in the season of 1921.

The Giants hold a three and a half game edge over the Reds today. This margin of safety may be doubled before the end of two weeks. The schedule is top-heavy with Giant luck.

The McGraw entry today begins a three game series with the Dodgers, a demoralized outfit which has lost nine straight. To-date, the Dodgers have been able to win only five out of 14 from the Giants.

It's a Funeral March

The next victim is the tail-end Braves for four games. Their record against the Giants is four victories in 15 games, so that series seems to be in the bag also.

The Phillies, who have lost 15 games in 19 with the Giants, follow the Braves here for a three game series, after which the Giants will jump over to Boston and dally with the Braves again. The Reds, in the meantime, will be in a running fight in the west. In successive series they will take on the Cubs, the Cardinals and Pirates and will do well to win seven of the 12 games played. In the season's returns to date, the Reds have won six and lost eight to the Pirates, won ten and lost eight to the Cubs and won eight and lost seven to the Cardinals.

Of course what happened in June and July has nothing whatever to do with what may occur in September.

FIGHT RESULTS

At Long Island City—Carl Duane, New York, got the decision over Jack (Kid) Wolfe, Cleveland, eight rounds.

TYING ON HIS ARMOUR

By Wood Cowan

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—America and Australia, principals in the challenge round of the Davis cup tennis series tomorrow, Saturday and Monday, will indulge in their final practice for the event on the courts at Forest Hills, L. I., this afternoon. Every member of both teams, including William T. Tilden and William M. Johnston, who will carry the burdens of singles play for the United States and James O. Anderson and J. B. Hawkes, headliners of the invading forces, is said to be in excellent condition. The draw for the first singles matches will be made this afternoon.

The Reds stubbed a toe in the final eastern appearance, losing a 2-to-1 decision to the Braves, and incidentally a half game in the league race. The pitching of Genewich and a single by McInnes in the tenth proved an ample sufficiency.

Win early and avoid the rush, was the motto of the Tigers in beating the Senators, 9 to 6. They scored all their runs off Mitchell and Marberry in the first three innings and then subsided.

MAXWELL PRICES HIT LOW MARK

Efficiency Makes Big Slash Possible, Says Lyman Clark, Dealer Here

Announcement of the slash in prices of all models of the 1924 lines of Maxwell and Chalmers automobiles was received by the local distributor, Lyman P. Clark, 124 West Colorado street, last night. The action of the manufacturers in ordering these reductions in the face of advances in the prices of many cars on their new models is regarded as one of the sensations of the automobile trade, says Mr. Clark.

The cut in prices, coming at a time when practically all materials used in the manufacture of automobiles is showing an advance in cost, is explained by Mr. Clark in the statement that the Maxwell organization, which manufactures both the Maxwell and Chalmers lines, has been showing a net income of $3,000,000 a month all through 1923, and the directors of the firm have adopted a policy of passing part of this profit back to the purchasers of their cars.

Economy in manufacturing and in buying, coupled with quantity production as it has been developed under the new Maxwell organization that took hold of the company in 1921 and that turned out the first of the good Maxwell models in 1922, has placed the company in the position where it has discharged all of its obligations and is now reaping the reward of capable and efficient administration.

The new prices are now in effect, Mr. Clark states, and he predicts that the coming season will surpass anything in the history of Maxwell and Chalmers sales.

The Maxwell organization contains many of the leading executives of the automobile industry in the country, men who have been drawn from other firms after having won their places as administrators and producers. Among these is Walter P. Chrisler, chairman of the board of directors, who was formerly vice-president and production manager of General Motors, and A. F. Barker, vice-president and sales director, formerly with Dodge Brothers.

THE FANNING BEE HIVE

By NORMAN E. BROWN

FRANK CHANCE,

Dame Rumor has it,

Will not manage the Red Sox again next year. But the public should not gather from this that Chance has failed to produce results in the Beantown camp. True, Chance hasn't pulled a miracle man stunt. Hasn't even dragged the team near the first division. But a close study of the team last spring and now shows his handiwork.

Take the pitching. Bill Piercy and Ferguson weren't ranked as dependable or winning pitchers when the season opened. Chance has made them fairly reliable. They are regulars and form part of the main pitching staff.

Howard Ehmke has done better than Ty Cobb persuaded him to do.

In the infield Chance has carried on the training of Chick Fewster at second and Norman McMillan at short. He now has two good infielders in these lads.

Reichle, at center field, has developed into a promising gardener under the Peerless Leader.

Of course, these improvements were not enough to make the Red Sox a winning ball club, so they go unnoticed in the press of the day's business.

An Invitation to All Glendalians

Who Enjoy the Great Out-of-Doors, to Camp on Our Property at

EDENWILD

SATURDAY-SUNDAY-MONDAY

—EDENWILD is situated in the Santa Monica Mountains, only 36 miles from Los Angeles, 4 miles from Calabasas, with paved roads to within 1½ miles of the tract, and the connecting road is an excellent dirt road passable in all weather.

EDENWILD is a natural wild garden of Eden—an entrancing spot of scenic beauty nestling in a beautiful wide valley of the Santa Monica Mountains and is a veritable region of virgin mountain play-ground and to the discriminating and lovers of the great out-doors it is being offered as a place upon which to erect a mountain home or a cabin.

EDENWILD is covered with immense live oaks, sycamores, and other large and small trees and is a spot where deer, rabbits, quail and other small game roam the hills as in the days before the intrusion of man. This place has an elevation of 1200 feet which means that the days are perfect and the nights are delightfully cool.

EDENWILD is being developed and placed upon the market as an exclusive mountain cabin resort, not too far from the city where people who appreciate nature in all her glory can erect a mountain home for week-ends and for summer vacations.

EDENWILD will ultimately become a place of privately owned mountain cabins and homes and not a resort of dance halls and public amusement places with the accompanying crowds and rubbish. Due to the enormous demand in past years, close-in mountain cabin sites are practically exhausted and we believe that after you visit EDENWILD you will agree that EDENWILD is the only remaining ideal close-in tract now being offered to the public.

—EDENWILD will essentially be a place of cabin homes and for the people who do not care to erect their own place we have plans for the EDENWILD CABIN and we are perpared to erect a 9x12 to a 24x24 cabin—either the cabin complete or without porches, steps, cupboards, etc.

HEALTH PREACHED IN HEALTHY SPOT

Adventist Camp Grounds Are Kept Clean and Free From Dust

Reports of continued enthusiasm come from the camp meeting of the Southern California Conference of Seventh-day Adventists in Los Angeles.

Notwithstanding the fact that the meetings have been in progress a week, the camp still presents a fresh appearance. In its preparation it was thoroughly sprinkled and rolled and then covered with shavings, and again sprinkled and rolled and by frequent sprinkling it is practically free from dust.

At the meeting yesterday afternoon Dr. George Thomason spoke on "Health." He took for his text, "Beloved, I wish above all things that thou mightest prosper and be in health, even as thy soul prospers."

Favors Nature Cures

He said "This shows that God is infinitely interested in the health of the body, so much so that he has made abundant provision for its maintenance in perfect health. The devil recognizing the provision for the preservation of perfect health through the practice of God-given principles has persistently sought to replace these principles by substitutes and counterfeits, both in practice of living and in the methods of recovering health when disease has supplanted health." The principles of rational treatment emphasized by the speaker were fresh air, sunlight, hydrotherapy, rational diet and "living of a pure life and vital connection with God."

Pastor Philip Knox spoke last night on "The Wonders of Creation" with stereopticon illustrations.

Programs Given

Elder R. W. Parmele of Glendale was the speaker at the 9 o'clock meeting this morning, and at 9 o'clock Pastor A. G. Daniells spoke. At the 11 o'clock service there was a convention of the young people's work and this afternoon Dr. Magan, dean of the Los Angeles branch of the Loma Linda College of Medical Evangelists, was scheduled to report on the work of the medical school. Pastor Rich will preach tonight.

Tomorrow's program is outlined as: Pastor J. L. McElhany preaches at 6 a. m.; Pastor A. G. Daniells at 9 a. m.; Pastor Nichols at 11 a. m.; Pastor W. F. Martin at 3 p. m.; Pastor E. W. Farnsworth at 7 p. m.

The Sabbath (Saturday) will be the crowning day of the camp meeting, and on Sunday a number of candidates will be baptized in the Exposition Park church building.

Among the recent arrivals at camp are Prof. Nelson, president of Pacific Union college at St. Helena; Pastor Luther Warren of San Diego, and Pastor Nichols of the Pacific Press Publishing Association, Mountain View, Cal.

Committees of Bar Association Report

chairman, submitted a new code of ethics for judges and asked its adoption.

Code of Ethics

"Courts are made for litigants, and not litigants for the courts," says one proposed ethical rule.

"Judges should be courteous to counsel, especially to those who are young," says another precept. "They should not be swayed by partisan demands or public clamor."

"Judges should not be extreme or peculiar in their judgments," says another. "They should not make political speeches."

On the matter of a third Hague conference of the nations on international law, the committee in its report, said:

"Your committee recommends action by the association endorsing the idea of the calling of a new conference of the nations, in continuance of the two former conferences at The Hague, in the belief that action clarifying the rules which concern the principles of international law and extending to some extent their application, should be brought about.

"It would not seem to be a matter of serious doubt that much may be accomplished in the direction of creating and preserving harmonious relations between nations, and towards the reduction of the causes of international disagreements, if the principles of international law should receive consideration at a new conference of the nations in accordance with the recommendations made by the committee of jurists assembled at The Hague in 1920."

Monroe Doctrine Theme

What is looked forward to as the most important pronouncement at the convention is scheduled for tonight, when Secretary of State Charles Evans Hughes will attempt, by a new clarification discussion of the Monroe doctrine and the United States policy in the West Indies and Central America, to allay suspicion of South American republics.

The chief cabinet officer, in a set address programmed as "Observations On the Monroe Doctrine," will defend American occupation of Haiti and Santo Domingo and the administration's policy in Central America. He is expected to make an appeal for a better understanding with the republics to the south and will attempt to show them that they have nothing to fear from the United States' insisence on the general principles of the Monroe doctrine.

Mortimer Givens and Family to Live Here

Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer Givens and their two daughters, Misses Irma and Olive Givens, are among the most recent of permanent residents. They arrived in Los Angeles from Plainfield, N. J., less than a month ago. The same day they rented a furnished house for a month, the next day they bought a new car—and the next week they bought a six room stucco home in Glendale, the pretty house recently finished by Roy E. Diem at 416 South Fischer street. The family are moving in today.

Fifteen years ago Mr. Givens resolved that some day he would bring his family to Southern California to live. He went back, put his business in order—and now they are here.

Among their friends is Mrs. Ethel D. Walsh, of 342 North Kenwood street, also formerly of Plainfield, N. J., who has lived in Glendale for three years.

Women's Coats Again To Button Up Back

LONDON, Aug. 30.—Husbands may become useful to their wives again if the latest fashion craze materializes.

Paris has decreed that the latest coats for women shall be short and will button up the back, and the "would you mind buttoning up my back" question may very soon become as universal as in bygone days.

Out of 22,500,000 homes in this country 8,500,000 are wired for electrical service.

HIGH SCHOOL SHIFT

Sessions at the high school next term will be divided so that juniors and seniors will come in the morning from 7:30 a. m. until 1 p. m. and freshmen and sophomores will come in the afternoon from 12 a. m. until 4:30 p. m. according to an announcement this morning by Principal George U. Moyse.

MRS. STONE LECTURES

"Twentieth Century Knighthood" was the subject of an illustrated address given last night by Mrs. Vida Reed Stone of Hollywood, at 311 West Oak street. The lecture was illustrated with fifty hand-colored slides, many of them copies of masterpieces. Mrs. Stone is chief knight of "The Order of the Round Table."

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE

Clara Kimball Young offers in "The Woman of Bronze" the most statuesque role it has ever been her opportunity to depict. As a matter of fact, as a play it was adapted by Paul Kester for Margaret Anglin, on the stage, from a novel by Henry Kistaemaecher.

The film version of the great novel and drama has been directed by King Vidor, one of the most sincere and artistic of the megaphone-swingers. The scenario is the joint work of Hope Loring and Louis Lighton.

The supporting cast is also selected with the greatest of care, every role being played with high skill. In the role of the sculptor's wife, Miss Young has achieved the histrionic triumph of her career. Audiences everywhere are voting "The Woman of Bronze" a super picture. You will want to see it at the Glendale.

THE GATEWAY

"Masters of Men," made by Vitagraph from Morgan Robertson's thrilling story of the sea, is the feature at the Gateway theatre tonight—a story about real men, whose veins run hot with real blood, red blood! fighting blood!

It is a story of a boy battling to master the primordial instincts of the young male to win man's estate in the most brutal hell-hole on earth, for'ard on a four-master sailing the Spanish Main.

In "Masters of Men" is a cast that includes Earle Williams, Alice Calhoun, Cullin Landis and Wanda Hawley. And such a story! Shanghaied, drugged by "crimps" and flung insensible into the hold—to awake scourged with tasks, curses and belaying-pins.

Into this grim story comes love, beautiful as a dream, to transform the boy's soul into a singing thing!

Labor Day Outing At Edenwild In Santa Monica Mountains Suggested To Glendale People

TO those who love southern California's out-of-doors and who revel in the beauties of a holiday in the mountains, under the giant sycamores and the live oaks, the invitation extended by J. W. Usilton, 201 North Brand boulevard, local agent for Edenwild, the new mountain cabin resort in the Santa Monica mountains, comes as a heaven-sent opportunity to attain their desires. This invitation, issued to Glendale's nature lovers, urges them to come and camp at Edenwild from Saturday, September 1, to Monday, September 3, and to spend the week-end in what is described as one of nature's beauty spots.

Edenwild is situated 36 miles from Los Angeles, an easy run of an hour and a half from this city, over paved roads that run to within a mile and a half of the tract, and from the point where the road leaves the pavement there is a fine dirt road that permits travel in all weathers leading right into the heart of the tract, which nestles in a beautiful sweep of wide valley in the Santa Monica mountains.

Trees and More Trees

The tract is covered with live oaks, sycamores and many other varieties of trees, large and small, and its elevation of 1200 feet insures a delightfully even temperature both day and night. The property is now being developed and placed on the market as an exclusive cabin resort where homes may be erected amid the beauties afforded by mountain surroundings and luxuriant foliage, and where one may secure that quiet and solitude that are so much desired by those whose daily life and work lie in congested cities and who seek the hills as a relief from the hurry and excitement that form a part of their every-day existence.

Edenwild, Mr. Usilton says, offers one of the last, and certainly one of the most attractive mountain cabin sites within easy reach of Glendale and Los Angeles, and he predicts that within a few years it will become a place of privately owned cabins and homes, peopled by residents who place seclusion and quiet above the dance halls and public amusement places that are found so abundantly in the popular resorts.

Wild Game in Sight

The woods that cover Edenwild teem with small game, and at times even a deer will be seen drifting through the changing light and shade of the woodland aisles, and the entire region is still unspoiled by the encroachments of those influences that tend to cheapen any spot where they are allowed to enter.

A system of roads that will traverse the entire tract is being planned, and trails will lead to every site, making it possible to reach every home that will be built in Edenwild by automobile, but that will still leave every homesite that seclusion that is so much desired by those who seek the mountain solitudes.

Wells, such as are celebrated in "The Old Oaken Bucket" will be drilled at convenient locations all over the tract, and a constant supply of water for domestic purposes will be furnished by Cold creek. Recreation centers, tennis courts and playgrounds for the children will be established, where the residents of Edenwild may disport themselves as a community in scenes where nature is continually trying to outdo herself in the lavishness with which she showers her beauties on this favored region.

Cabins Are Built

The owners of the tract are prepared to co-operate with those who do not desire to build their own homes by furnishing plans for cabins built to meet the desires of the individual purchaser, and the terms on which the sites and the cabin building service are offered to prospective buyers form one of the most attractive features of the project, according to Mr. Usilton. Deeds to the sites purchased are given to the owners, free and clear of any encumbrance, and the property is free of any assessments for any purpose.

J. W. Usilton, who has been appointed Glendale agent for Edenwild, is one of the pioneer residents of this region, and knows values intimately on every kind of property. His association with the owners and sub-dividers of the tract was accomplished only after he had weighed the advantages of the property from every angle and realized that here was a real estate proposition that he could offer his clients with absolute confidence in its worth, not only as a site for a retreat in the mountains, but also as an investment that would grow rapidly in value as time went on.

Greece Tries to Stop War With Italians

referred to the League of Nations. The secretary of the Italian legation declared that the assassinations were due to Greek "hatred" which had been fostered by propaganda.

The Albanian legation issued a statement denying that Albanians were responsible for the assassinations.

Mussolini Ready to Back Up Demands

ROME, Aug. 30.—The semi-official newspaper Messagero declared today that all the reported activities of the Italian navy "are simply preparations." It added that the government has not decided upon anything definite.

The Greek reply to Premier Mussolini's ultimatum is expected from Athens tonight. The premier's vigorous action in rushing an ultimatum to Athens is generally supported by the press.

Premier Mussolini has taken steps to back up his demands and it is authoritatively declared that he will positively refuse to back down.

General Diaz, Italy's foremost military leader, has returned to Rome at the request of the premier. It is understood that other officials have been summoned.

Reports are current that the Italian war craft concentrated at Taranto may be used for a demonstration against Greece unless the Italian demands are met in full.

A strict censorship is being exercised.

Italy Concentrates Warships and Troops

PARIS, Aug. 30—Secret orders have been received concentrating the Italian fleet at Taranto for a possible demonstration against Greece, said a despatch from Turin today. Troop concentrations were reported from the interior of Italy.

The Italian government is waiting Greece's reply to the twenty-four-hour ultimatum demanding an apology and reparations for the killing of General Tellini, head of the inter-allied commission for the determination of frontiers, and four other members of his party near Janina. Public feeling has risen to fever heat.

Italian press censorship forbids the publication of movements of troops and warships.

It is understood that Italy is preparing to send a division of soldiers to Piraeus whether or not Greece apologizes.

Premier Mussolini conferred with military officials at great length. Italians are certain that the attack was directed against Italy and not against the boundary commission as a body.

Score Italian Premier

LONDON, Aug. 30.—"We cannot witness without protest this high-handed diplomacy which painfully reminds us of the action taken by Austria after the murder at Sarajevo in 1914," said the Star today, commenting upon the Italian ultimatum to Greece. "It is an ominous precedent. We appeal to the sober second thought of the Italian people. If they fail to check Mussolini in his headlong career of militarism, it will be up to the League of Nations to intervene."

Ask Probe Of Killing

PARIS, Aug. 30.—The inter-allied council of ambassadors today sent a telegram to Athens protesting energetically against the killing of Italian officials of the allied boundary commission. Demand was made that the Greek government make immediate investigation.

STEEL PLANT FOR L. A.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 30. — A huge steel plant and blast furnaces, that will make Los Angeles the steel center of the west, will be erected between Long Beach and the harbor, it was revealed today. The announcement of the gigantic enterprise followed filing, at Sacramento, of incorporation papers of the Pacific Coke & Steel company.

CALL OFF LONG FLIGHT

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 30.—The proposed non-stop flight from San Diego to Puget Sound which was recently planned to demonstrate the practicability of transferring air squadrons from one border to the other in ten hours by means of midair re-fuelling at Sacramento and Eugene, Ore., will not be undertaken, it was learned here today.

FISH DROWNS TRIO

FON DU LAC, Wis., Aug. 30.—Jacob Jacobs, 48, of Lincoln, Neb., a beet field worker, and his two sons, John, 6, and Jacob, Jr., 14, were drowned last night in Stockbridge harbor, Lake Winnebago, when the smallest boy caught a fish and capsized the boat. All the bodies were recovered.

Three school children in every 1000 have perfect teeth.

Independence Will Be Sought by Filipinos

MANILA, P. I., Aug. 30—"Such an anomalous situation in the Philippines cannot continue indefinitely," Speaker Roxas of the lower house of the Philippine legislature, declared today, referring to the breach between Governor General Leonard Wood and the secretaries of governmental departments.

"One solution or another must be found and I believe that the first session of the legislature next October will take up the national problem that has arisen between the governor-general and the secretaries," the speaker continued.

"The consideration of everyone must be given to the people of these islands and the judgment of the United States government.

"As for myself, I believe I interpret correctly that the sentiments of the Philippine problem involves the question of life and death for democratic government in the Philippines and national independence. Therefore the case should be brought to the full knowledge of the government and people of the United States.."

Police Comb Capital For Stolen Painting

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 30.—Widespread search continued today for the internationally famous painting, "The Entombment of Christ," which was stolen from the Crocker art gallery here some time between last Saturday afternoon and Sunday morning.

The painting is virtually priceless, according to W. F. Jackson, curator of the art gallery. It was painted early in the seventeenth century by Guido Reni, a recognized master of the Bolognese school.

The gold frame was unscrewed from the wall in a corner of the main gallery, the panel on which the painting was mounted removed, and the frame replaced.

Reni's masterpiece represents the body of Christ being lowered in the tomb, the ceremony being surrounded by a group of six figures. The painting is eight by ten inches in size.

Thirty persons visited the gallery Saturday. Two men, however, were seen to enter the building late in the afternoon and were lost track of during a short absence of Curator Jackson. These men are suspected of the theft. They were not seen leaving the gallery.

So far a thorough search by the police for the painting has failed to reveal its presence in Sacramento.

IRISH MAJORITY FAVORS TREATY

36 Free Staters, 22 Republicans, and 24 Other Dail Members Elected

By DANIEL O'CONNELL
For International News Service

DUBLIN, Aug. 30.—The election count up to noon today gave 36 Free Staters elected to the Dail Eirean, 22 Republicans, 9 Independents, 8 farmers and 7 laborites.

Free State officials claimed that a majority in favor of the Anglo-Irish treaty was assured.

A canvass of ballots has found five women Republicans elected, including Mary Macswiney, sister of Terence Macswiney, former lord mayor of Cork, who died on a hunger strike.

Labor Vote Weak

The laborites failed to make the showing they expected.

President Johnson, of the labor federation, will be barely elected.

The votes counted showed 350,000 for Free Staters, 200,000 for Republicans and 100,000 for the others.

The election of all Free State ministers is now assured.

The republican victors include Mrs. Cathal Brugha, wife of one of the leaders in the old Irish republican army, and "Acting President" Rutledge, who was proclaimed chief of the "republican government" after the arrest of Eamonn de Valera.

720 Quarts of Saki Evidence Against Japs

Seven hundred and twenty quart bottles of saki compose the evidence in the case of the City of Glendale against Y. Yamimoda of San Jose which is being heard this afternoon by Judge F. H. Lowe. A test revealed the fact that the saki contained over 22 per cent by volume of alcohol. If distilled, it would produce over 30 gallons of alcohol. It is estimated that the ingredients of the saki are worth about $4000. Mr. Yamimoda is expected to plead guilty to the charge of transporting this Japanese hooch through Glendale.

FIRST GAY PERIOD

The decade following the establishment of the Navy War College at Newport in 1880 marked that social colony's period of greatest brilliance and wasteful extravagance. No period since has compared with that time, it is said by those who were present and a part of the exclusive set then.

About 15,000 persons die from fire every year in this country.

S. P. TO IMPROVE FACILITIES ON PACIFIC SYSTEM

Program Demands Expenditure of $50,000,000 in Coast States, Claim

Glendale is not alone in obtaining an improvement of major importance from the budget of the Espee railway this year. Its $70,000 station is but a mere "drop in the bucket."

A comprehensive and impressive program for construction work, new facilities and general improvements to maintain adequate transportation service for Pacific coast states has been launched by the Southern Pacific company, it was announced today. Expenditures totaling in excess of $50,000,000 are involved in the improvement program, which is to be carried out as rapidly as the materials can be assembled and work undertaken.

This program is in addition to the recent purchase by the Southern Pacific company of a record number of freight and passenger cars, refrigerator cars and powerful locomotives costing $40,000,000.

Follows Court Ruling

The announcement calling for renewed activity throughout the territory served by the railroad follows closely upon the heels of the decision of government officials at Washington to accept the United States court decision affirming the findings of the Interstate Commerce Commission in the Southern Pacific-Central Pacific merger.

According to Southern Pacific officials, their program should be complete proof of the company's desire to serve fully the needs of the territory in which it operates, and be a simple, but convincing, answer to those critics of private operation who may charge the railroads with "do nothing" tactics.

Much of this work is in Southern California. There are fifteen miles of rail renewal on the Duarte branch and twenty-three miles of renewal on the Van Nuys branch at a total estimated cost of $440,000.

A new line in Imperial valley, 21.7 miles long, extending from Calipartia east and south to a point near Holtville, is now assured. This will tap a fertile region, previously lacking in transportation, and will mean a great deal to the shipper of live stock and other perishable freight.

New Engine Shop

A new locomotive erecting shop is planned for Los Angeles. The building will be equipped with twenty-four engine pits, one 250-ton crane and two fifteen-ton cranes. This plant, which will increase the number of men employed by the Southern Pacific at their Los Angeles shops by 700, will cost $610,000.

The new equipment purchased this year for the company's Pa-

WOODLANDS FOLK DISCUSS PROBLEM

How to Retire $50,000 of Bonds at Once Will Be Work for Committee

Harmony in a desire to boost its section of the community to the fullest extent, through the co-operation of all neighbors, prevailed last night in the Newport pavilion at a meeting of the Verdugo Woodlands Improvement association.

Hiram A. Graves of 1646 Glorietta avenue presided. He expressed his opinion that, instead of theorizing, it would be better to appoint committees to investigate facts and act accordingly. This method of procedure was adopted by motion. Mr. Graves announced that appointments would be made after proper deliberation.

Assistant City Attorney Leslie Tarr explained the city administration's attitude toward the redemption of the $50,000 bonds issued to extend gas service into Verdugo Woodlands.

Predicts Compromise

John L. Bolen of 1640 Wabasso way explained the origination of the complications. He asserted that the William R. Staats company is perfectly willing to have the bonds re-called and is willing to accept only the nominal banking interest for the actual duration of the loan. He suggested that immediate application should be made for a court order to permit the redemption of the bonds. He added that he did not believe any first-class judge on the bench would require more than ten minutes to act on such a petition.

H. B. Woodill of 1601 Opeechee way stated that he thought some credit was due to Miss Winifred Marr as, without her legal action, it would have been necessary to have paid bond interest over a period of seven or eight years. Her suit is cause of the contention now.

The Verdugo Canyon sewer system was the next subject

Entries and Trophy in Fishermen's Race

The photos show: The Lipton trophy to be awarded by the famous English sportsman and tea merchant to the winner of the Fishermen's Race at Gloucester, Mass., today; the "Henry Ford," defeated challenger of the International Fishermen's trophy at Gloucester last October, which will race for the Lipton cup this year, and the "Elizabeth Howard," also entered in the contest. Upon the beautiful half-moon beach shown above, the immigrants from Dorchester, England, landed in 1623 and founded the Massachusetts Bay Colony, and also the fishing industry, of Gloucester, which has been carried on ever since. Gloucester is now celebrating with a pageant, sports and other features the three hundredth anniversary of its birth. The celebration ends tonight.

NEW BERLIN CRISIS

BERLIN, Aug. 30.—The gas and electric services were threatened yesterday with complete breakdown, owing to lack of money to carry them on.

Speed Classic of Fishing Craft Will Be Run Off Today

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Aug. 30.—Amid a din of whistles and cheers the three contestants for the Lipton and Prentiss trophies, Shamrock, Henry Ford and Elizabeth Howard set off here today in the first free-for-all fishing schooner race off this port in many years.

By ED MILLETT
For International News Service

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Aug. 30.—Perhaps the foremost event in the four days' program conducted by Gloucester in celebration of the three-hundrdth anniversary of the city's founding is the Fishermen's Race, to be run off in these waters today, having been postponed from Tuesday on account of fog.

The contest is a genuine fishermen's race, without the formality of trustees, rules of the road, or other unnecessary red tape. There has gone forth a call to all fishing schooners in the United States and the Dominion of Canada to participate, the only rules being that the schooners must be two-masted vessels using sails. Gloucester has some crack schooners, and Boston sent down the schooner Mayflower, the "undisputed champion of the North Atlantic," barred from participating in the International Fishermen's race because she was too "yachty."

Race That Set Pace

In the celebration in 1892, when Gloucester observed its two hundred and fiftieth anniversary as a township, there was a fishermen's race that has never been duplicated. The wind blew a gale, schooners were driven home with sails in shreds and masts snapping under the strain, but it was a race, and, although that happened thirty-one years ago, they haven't got over talking about it yet in Gloucester.

Sir Thomas Lipton, English sportsman, who recently arrived in this country, an ardent admirer of racing, has donated a handsome silver trophy as the first prize for the winner of the race, and in addition to this there will be a cash award of $1000 to the winner. The second prize is a handsome cup donated by Colonel John W. Prentiss and a cash award of $300.

Other Events On Program

In addition to the race for fishing schooners, there is to be a yacht race, with nine classes of boats, from Annisquam, the Corinthian and New York yacht clubs.

The city of Gloucester and the state have evidenced their recognition of the prowess of this section's master fishermen by the fact that $10,000 each has been appropriated by the state legislature and the city government for the erection of a monument to these hardy voyagers.

Neither the form nor the location of the monument has yet been determined, but it is thought likely it will be placed in the center of the $100,000 boulevard recently constructed along the waterfront.

HOLD BOY AS KILLER

SPRINGFIELD, Colo., Aug. 30.—Cyril Bishop, 18, is being held in jail here pending a hearing next Saturday on a charge of slaying his brother, Frederick Bishop, 26, who was shot to death in the home of the Bishop parents at Campo, 35 miles south of here.

EXCHANGE CLUB'S OFFICERS EXPOSED

Characters Are Read Before Luncheon Crowd by Henry M. Baker

A demonstration reading at sight was given at Los Angeles yesterday noon in the Tuesday Afternoon Clubhouse at the weekly luncheon of the Glendale Exchange Club, by Henry Milton Baker.

Predominating traits in the characters of Capt. D. Ripley Jackson and George A. Whitaker, president and vice-president of the club, R. E. Johnston, Dr. Warren Z. Newton, W. C. Waring, and F. C. Butler were exposed, yes bared to the world!

Ability to "judge" character may be developed, according to Mr. Baker. In his opinion within a few generations any person who has not developed this talent, will be regarded illiterate. He stated that, just as different animals may be recognized by the structure of their body, so may the five divisions of the human family be distinguished.

"I take it that all of you men are selling stock of one kind and another," he remarked. "A salesman, who understands human nature, can sell nearly anything."

The Community band, which is being sponsored by the Exchange Club, was another subject of discussion. Its favorable progress since its organization was outlined by H. E. Cavanah and Adolph La Bourgeois, both of whom are connected with the Cavanah Studio at 130 North Orange street, and requested the purchase of uniforms and music for the band.

"The band is getting along very nicely," exclaimed Mr. La Bourgeois, band leader, announcing the fact that its first concert probably will be given October 15 in the auditorium of Glendale Union High school.

Dr. Jim Belyea, chairman of the membership committee, proposed the names of several local merchants for membership in the Exchange Club.

P. S. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sherborne were present, the "kidnapping" committee having attended to the detail of "bringing in" the culprits who eluded capture last week, following their marriage. "Art" was too bashful to add this line to the account of the meeting, being a good newspaper man.

PENDROY'S SHOW LATEST IN FURS

Living Models to Give Local Lovers of Wraps First Glimpse Friday!

"It is in love of exquisite furs that the average woman shows truly feminine appreciation of beauty and comfort," stated Duke Hogan today, while describing the wonderful new fall furs just received in stock, direct from New York, at Pendroy's Department store in Glendale.

Furs and more furs—the first impression received when you stop to inspect the assortment that is now on display at Pendroy's—include seal, mole, kolinsky, Siberian squirrel, German fitch, north seals and French seals. The lengths vary from 45 to 50 inches, the popular style on the coast.

The flowing bishop sleeve, one of the most graceful for the fur coat, is the style almost without exception. Most of the sleeves have little inner sleeves of silk attached to the lining at the elbow and gathered close about the wrist by elastic.

Stylish and Practical

Very interesting to note also are the unusual ways in which the skins were used. Some of the coats are made to look as if they had bias bands by setting the skins in—the opposite way.

Capes, also, are prominently displayed and will, no doubt, become great favorites in the winter fur mode. Strange to say, the silhouette of the cape makes not the slightest effort to follow that of the longer coat. The capes are cut to fit snugly about the shoulders. Then there is a decided circular flare, sometimes from the elbow to the bottom of the cape, while in other instances the cape is straight to the knees with a circular ruffle at the bottom.

The style of the capes shown follows the prevailing fashion in a rolling collar which comes high in the back of the neck, over the ears, and crosses almost to the point of the chin. Very comfy, you see!

Jacquettes in platinum and gray caracul, beige and white also are shown.

See the Display

Tomorrow afternoon from 2 to 5 living models will display the beautiful fall styles and a special invitation has been issued the women of Glendale by Pendroy's to be present.

The display will be on the second floor where a series of new "daylight indirect electric lamps" have been installed. These illuminate the darkest corners and aid one to distinguish the most delicate shades of color.

Thirty Million Gold on Salvage Ship Guarded

LONDON, Aug. 30.—According to the Star the salvage ship which has recovered $30,000,000 in gold bars from the sunken liner Laurentic off the Irish coast is under guard of a destroyer to prevent a raid by Irish republicans. The salvage vessel is a real treasure ship with the decks literally covered with recovered gold.

RIVERSIDE DRIVE AND OTHER LOS ANGELES CITY PLANS ARE REVEALED AT REALTY LUNCH

G. Gordon Whitnall, Directing Commission's Work In Metropolis, Talks Of Traffic Problems to Be Solved by Local Arteries

CONSTRUCTION of a bridge across the Los Angeles river at the western end of Colorado street, to connect with the proposed Riverside drive that is now in process of improvement and thus afford easy access to Los Angeles and San Fernando valley points, has been definitely determined on by the Los Angeles city planning commission, according to an announcement made yesterday at the weekly luncheon of the Glendale Realty Board by G. Gordon Whitnall, a director of the commission and one of the founders of the regional planning commission that is helping to harmonize the development of a metropolitan area of Los Angeles.

"The proposed bridge," he stated, "will eliminate the grade crossing over the Southern Pacific tracks, as the approach to the bridge will pass under the railroad, and the Southern Pacific company will, it is certain, co-operate to the fullest extent with the commission in the efforts to reduce the risks attendant on level crossings."

Work Starts Soon

Work on the bridge will be started in the near future, immediately after the completion of the flood control work on the river, which is expected to be by next spring, and the construction of this bridge will place Glendale in a position where the city will straddle one of the main traffic arteries from San Bernardino to the San Fernando Valley points, one of the most important highways in the entire system in the state.

Deeds for the property over which Riverside drive is to run, the speaker revealed, have already been secured, as have also the rights of way from Lankershim to Los Angeles, and Glendale's connection with Riverside drive at Colorado street will place it in a position where traffic through this city may be diverted either north or south with the minimum delay, a condition, he remarked, that would have been impossible had the commission decided to build the bridge at the end of West Broadway or at Park avenue, as had been suggested. It also gives direct access to Griffith park and the its golf links!

At Our Borders

"The network of primary, secondary and third-class boulevards and highways that the regional commission is planning," Mr. Whitnall stated, "has already been outlined down the entire length of the San Fernando valley to the borders of Glendale," and he added that officials of this city will shortly be called into conference with the commission to arrange for the completion of the system through Glendale as a harmonious part of the system.

All of these proposed new highways will adhere to the standard types that have been adopted by the commission, the major boulevards calling for a width of 100 feet at mile intervals, the second-

Real Coal Black Mammy Here Has Nice Lot of Pups

BESS is a Belgian police dog belonging to J. E Zink of 740 Granada street, Glendale. She is a "Coal Black Mammy" if there ever was one.

And in the litter of pups she has just introduced to "the fastest growing city," dogmatically speaking, there isn't a single one "black diamond" in the lot. However, they are perfect specimens.

Mr. Zink states that the black thoroughbred police dog is a rarity, and is valued at $150.

Oh, yes, there are six girls out of the eight in "Ma Bess" family.

TODAY—People Who Don't Like Paris Write to the Newspapers.

By HARRY FLORY,
For International News Service

PARIS, Aug. 30.—All is not always rosy for Americans in Paris. Despite the fact they have escaped the rigors of prohibition enforcement, movie and literary censorship and other alleged infringements upon personal liberty, they have a multitude of woes, cares, and complaints.

Just as they were accustomed to do back in the old home town when anything annoys, pleases or baffles them, they write letters to the editor of the home town paper, which in this case happens to be any one of four English language newspapers printed in Paris.

"American Housekeepers in France" has just been conducting a vigorous campaign against dishonest French maids. "Twelve Years a Butler" ends the affair by politely suggesting that the way to prevent dishonesty is to pay a living wage and treat servants as human beings.

"Readers" ask recipes for pickling pears and peaches, where to buy alcohol lamps, oil stoves and American self-sealer fruit jars.

"Alabama Boy," who says he can't live without southern cooking asks, "where, oh, where" in Paris he can find waffles. "Vermont Boy" responds with three addresses, but expresses regret that the syrup accompanying is not the real New England maple variety.

"Middle Western" bewails the fact that French cooks refuse to mistreat eggs by frying them on both sides. To his plea for "ham and eggs over easy" a "French-American Wife" suggests that he find a nice French girl, marry her and teach her the tricks of middle western cooking.

"Vexed," "Perplexed," "Indignant" and others complain of the passport visa nuisance, which requires the expenditure of $10 every time a European frontier is crossed.

"American" seeks a "delightful spot in France or Switzerland where the food and cooking are suitable for a weak stomach."

"Truth Seeker" wants to know why French people, who like to eat their meals out of doors, refuse to allow train windows to be opened while the train is in motion. A "Californian" complains because his weekly letter from home was twenty-four days en route.

"American Who Might Have the Mumps" suggests that the American Hospital in Paris install a ward for the reception of contagious disease patients, "Perplexed" wants the address of Dr. Coue, of "Day by Day" fame.

Naturally prohibition receives its knocks, from "100 Per Cent Sane," "100 Per Cent American," All American Who Knows" and others. In reply "200 Per Cent American" chides the "loud-talking Americans whose chief occupation is sitting on the terrace of the Cafe de la Paix, smoking cigars and trying to drink up all the booze in Paris."

"Readers" ask the address of a Paris firm which sells a particular make of ladies' silk underwear; the exact date and time of day the first Big Bertha shell fell on Paris, and the correct words of "Yankee Doodle," to be sung from Eiffel Tower broadcasting station.

"Why do so many American women who come to France always leave their husbands at home and why do they always wear a little piece of fur around their necks?" inquires a "Puzzled French Girl."

"Student" complains that while he paid only $38 a month for room and board in an American college town, he pays $50 a month in Paris for less satisfactory arrangements.

All the complaints annoy a majority of the large colony of voluntary American exiles in France. Speaking for them "Just a Young American" advises thus:

"Why try to change Paris? Take things as you find them and if you don't like them, go back home."

Football In Balkans Brings New Era

Football in the Balkans.

By CONSTANTINE STEPHANOVE
For International News Service

SOFIA, Aug. 30.—The thud of the booted pigskin is replacing the boom of the cannon and the rattle of the machine gun in the belligerent Balkans. Football is driving out hatreds that have endured for centuries and ushering in a new era of friendliness and good feeling between traditionally hostile states.

Until very recently football was not listed as a favorite sport of the Balkan peoples. It was regarded as an "American craze" that found little favor among the countries of central Europe.

Since the war, however, the game has "caught on," and it is rapidly becoming the most popular sport in the Balkan states. Several crack teams have been formed, and as the players become more adept in the game public interest is increasing rapidly. Huge crowds now attend the games in all parts of the Balkan countries.

Shows Good Spirit

The extent to which the sport is becoming an emissary of international good feeling was strikingly illustrated recently when the first international football matches in the history of the Balkans were held. No event in recent Balkan history, it is declared, has done so much to bring together in friendly intercourse countries that long have regarded each other as hereditary enemies.

The matches were between Rumania and Bulgaria, the Rumanian team coming to Sofia, the Bulgarian capital, for the contests. Two games were played, one between the Rumanian All-Star Tricolor aggregation and the Sparta club of Sofia, and the other between the invading Rumanians and the Lefsky club, which is considered the best in Bulgaria.

In the first contest the Rumanians were victorious, defeating the Sparta club 6 to 0. The tables were turned in the second game, however, and the Lefsky club took the Rumanian Tricolors into camp by a score of 2 to 0, after a hard-fought struggle. More than 50,000 people witnessed the matches.

Met by Royal Officials

When the visiting Rumanian aggregation arrived it was met by officials representing King Boris, of Bulgaria, and the Bulgarian government. After the game the players and officials were taken in automobiles through the city and everywhere reecived an ovation. Many Bulgarian and Rumanian dignitaries attended the contests. During their stay the Rumanians were entertained at a banquet, where high officials of two countries spoke.

Tribute to international football as an incubator of international friendship was paid by M. Rascanu, the Rumanian minister to Bulgaria. Responding to the toast, General Vulkoff, the Bulgarian war minister, declared that "the pigskin may prove a most effective means of bringing about peace and good-will among the heretofore hostile peoples in the Balkans."

Like Soccer Game

The style of football played is different from the American inter-collegiate game. It is rather the Association or soccer game, such as predominates in England. Despite the fact that the game is new in the Balkans, the players have developed considerable skill, and the matches were exceedingly well played. So popular has the game become with the spectators that football is now the best patronized sport in the Balkans.

Inspired by the success of the Bulgarian - Rumanian matches, football enthusiasts are now planning contests with other neighboring states, and a strong Balkan football association probably will be built up.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE PEPPER HASH

Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy looked across the table at Uncle Wiggily. The rabbit gentleman was twinkling his pink nose, but he was eating very little. And this was strange, because there was cherry pie for dessert.

"I think I know what is the matter with you, Uncle Wiggily," spoke Nurse Jane.

"Why, there is nothing the matter with me," said Uncle Wiggily.

"You aren't eating!" declared the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"That's because I was wondering what sort of an adventure I might have," answered Mr. Longears.

Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy shook her head.

"You are losing your appetite," she observed. You are going to be ill, I'm afraid. I shall have to call in Dr. Possum."

"Oh, I'm all right!" said Uncle Wiggily. "Don't fuss over me, if you please, though it is very good of you to bother."

"No bother at all!" said Nurse Jane cheerfully. "I know just what you need—pepper hash!"

"Pepper hash!" cried Uncle Wiggily, "What is that?"

"It's chopped up cabbage with vinegar, salt and pepper on," explained the muskrat lady housekeeper. "It's the best thing in the world when you feel sort of slimpsy flimpsy like and lose your appetite. I'll make you some pepper hash."

"It sounds good," said Uncle Wiggily, hopeful like.

"It will be good!" declared Nurse Jane. "But," she went on, when she had looked in the pantry "you'll have to go to the store and get me some pepper. I forgot I had none. I have the cabbage, the salt and the vinegar—everything except the pepper. So please hop to the store and get me some."

"I will," promised Uncle Wiggily, and soon he was hopping over the fields and through the woods toward the grocery store.

"A little pepper, if you please,' said Uncle Wiggily to the gentle man grocery dog.

"As much as you like," barked the dog. "Ker-choo! Ker-choo!" he sneezed.

"What's the matter; are you catching cold?" asked the bunny as the grocery dog handed him the package.

"No, it's the — ker-zoo — the pepper!" explained the dog. "It always makes me — ker-foo — sneeze."

"A-ker-choo—it does me, too!" laughed Uncle Wiggily, and he sneezed so hard that he dropped the money he was to pay for the pepper. Then the bunny and the grocery dog laughed and sneezed some more and the dog said:

"Better carry that pepper in your pocket if you don't want to sneeze all the way home."

"I—ker-zoo—guess so!" agreed the rabbit. So he put the paper of pepper in his pocket and back toward his hollow stump bungalow he started hopping.

Uncle Wiggily was about half way there when, all of a sudden, out from under a log crawled the Skillery Scallery Alligator with the humps on his tail.

"Good morning to you!" bellowed the 'Gator, looking hungrily at Uncle Wiggily's ears. "Where have you been?"

"To the store to get some stuff so Nurse Jane can make pepper hash so I'll have a better appetite," answered the bunny politely.

"Ho! Ho!" laughed the Alligator.

"Ho! Ho!" laughed the Alligator. "Well, I don't need pepper hash or anything else to give me an appetite for what I am going to eat. I can nibble your ears, pepper hash or no pepper hash!"

"Perhaps you don't need the pepper hash, but I'll give you a little pepper!" laughed the bunny. He pulled the paper of pepper from his pocket and shook it in front of the 'Gator's nose.

"Ker-choo! Ker-zoo! Ker-foo!" sneezed the Alligator.

"Ker-choo! Ker-zoo! Ker-foo!" sneezed Uncle Wiggily.

But the Alligator, being so much larger, sneezed much harder. And he sneezed himself into a somersault, turning head over heels ker-floppo, and while the Alligator was turning somersaults Uncle Wiggily put the paper of pepper back in his pocket, stopped sneezing and ran safely home to his bungalow.

"Now for the pepper hash!" said Nurse Jane.

"Well, make it if you like," laughed the bunny, "but I had such a funny adventure that I am twice as hungry as a bear!" And he ate up all the cherry pie in the bungalow. After that he was all well, and he lived happily for many years. And if the wallpaper doesn't lie down and go to sleep on the carpet so it tickles the foot of the bed, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Rusty Tail.

Billy Whiskers

By FRANCES TEGNO MONTGOMERY

You remember yesterday's story ended when the Exposition guards saw Billy and Nannie in the fountain. How they were to get the goats out was the next question, for there they stood in the very middle of the fountain like handsome statues.

All the time the crowd kept growing larger and larger. At last one of the guards jumped over the rim of the basin and started to ward them. Billy paid no attention to him whatever until he was within three feet of him, and even then he only turned his head and shook it at the man as much as to say, "Look out, young fellow! Don't you come any nearer unless you are courting trouble!"

The crowd yelled, "Drive him out, why don't you? Go ahead, smarty, and let's see you get him out of the fountain."

Here Billy's attention was attracted by a baa from Nannie, and looking toward her he saw that she was struggling with a big guard who had hold of her horns.

"Duck him, Nannie!" Billy baahed. "Duck him! Give him a good one!"

Nannie gave her head a quick twist which threw the man off his feet, and under the water he went. This brought more cheers from the onlookers, and while Billy was off his guard because of the shouting the fellow who was within a few feet of him sneaked up still closer and gave him a blow with his club. Alas for the guard! Billy wheeled like a flash and the next thing the fellow knew he went head over heels into the water also.

Now two guards and two goats were in the water, but the men had had enough of chasing goats and crawled out and sneaked off to get on dry clothes. Other guards came and stood about, trying to plan some way to get the goats out without being butted. At last one of them thought of a way. They would send for the fire engine and turn the hose on them, knowing that they would have to get out when the powerful stream hit them.

"So that is what they are going to do, is it?" said Billy to himself. "Oh, I guess not! Seeing we have had such a good bath, I guess we will move on before the engine arrives."

(You may be sure Billy did what he planned and went away before the firemen arrived.)

WHO'S WHO IN THE DAY'S NEWS

S. PARKER GILBERT

The man who is acting secretary of the treasury and in charge of all fiscal operations of the United States government while Secretary Mellon is abroad, is not yet thirty-one years of age. He is S. Parker Gilbert and he was born October 13, 1892.

S. PARKER GILBERT

The story of Gilbert's career as a public official dates back to the summer of 1918. At that time he had been in the law offices of Cravath & Henderson, New York—now Cravath, Henderson & de Gersdorff—for about three years. Russell C. Leffingwell, who was a member of the same firm, had been called to Washington in 1917 by William Gibbs McAdoo, then secretary of the treasury, as special counsel in connection with the Liberty Loan flotations.

In the fall of 1917 congress created the post of assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of fiscal affairs, and Leffingwell was appointed to that office by President Wilson at the request of Secretary McAdoo. He became directing head of the Liberty Loan work and soon thereafter asked Gilbert to join the war loan staff. Gilbert went to Washington in July, 1918.

The unusual ability displayed by Gilbert in carrying out the tasks allotted to him as a member of the war loan staff won for him the confidence of his superiors. He supplied proof of capacity for work and exhibited a desire to shoulder responsibilities, and his advancement was rapid. In July, 1920, when Leffingwell, after serving as assistant secretary under three Democratic secretaries—McAdoo, Glass and Houston—retired to resume the practice of law, Gilbert found himself elevated, at the age of twenty-seven years, to the vacant post.

When Andrew Mellon became secretary of the treasury he conferred with Gilbert, reviewed the work he had done, first as a member of the war loan staff and later as assistant secretary, and asked him if he would remain and serve the government.

Gilbert consented, and a few weeks later Secretary Mellon advocated congressional action which would create a new post, that of under secretary of the treasury. The post was to carry a salary of $10,000 a year—the office of assistant secretary pays but $5,000—and to vest the incumbent with added authority.

In July, 1921, congress established the office of under secretary of the treasury, and Gilbert was immediately selected. Therefore he first came into the position he now holds—one step removed from a cabinet post—when he was but twenty-eight years of age.

Gilbert is a tall, slender young man, with an engaging personality. He goes about his work quietly, with a determination and thoroughness. He was graduated at Rutgers in 1912 and the Harvard Law School in 1915.

A poorly nourished dietitian was telling a mother that she must have her children eat porridge, milk, fruit and vegetables, according to Social Service. In response to the objection that the children disliked those foods, the visitor said he had been raised on them. "Well," said the mother, "you ain't no ad for them eats."

Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young woman in the twenties and have been going with a man a few years older than myself for the past two and a half years. We are engaged. We have always had an understanding that we would be married this spring, but he keeps putting me off.

I love him and he certainly loves me, but he has the idea that I might wait for him as long as he wants me to. I feel we have gone together long enough.

We often have little misunderstandings and he tells me I may go with whom I wish and I should not expect him down again. I don't quite understand him, for he always comes back again. He is jealous at times and often tells me I dress too flashy.

Please give me your advice.

EMILY JANE

The young man may have a very good reason for not marrying at present, and if such is the case you are certainly making a mistake by trying to force him into marriage when he feels he is not prepared for the responsibility. You have not told me his explanation for the delay, but I presume he feels he is not financially able. It certainly takes a lot of money to start housekeeping and I would advise you to wait until next spring rather than start out handicapped with debts from purchasing furniture and the various other things necessary to go to housekeeping.

Misunderstandings ought to be avoided whenever possible. There is nothing like a series of little quarrels to kill love. If you really want to have a happy and harmonious home life after marriage you will make the effort to get along without misunderstandings creeping in. There is a general belief that "true love never runs smooth." True love tries to protect the feelings of the loved one and dreads a quarrel more than anything else. Quarrels are absolutely unnecessary where there is self-control.

Try not to make your fiance jealous, because it is a miserable and unhappy feeling. Perhaps he really feels your clothes are too showy and his sense of good taste makes him wish you would be more modest in your attire

Dear Mrs. Thompson. I am a girl of sixteen. I have not been happy for over five years with my parents. They have been fighting all the time. My father left us last year and we felt better, but he heard my mother went with a young man and came again. They had an awful fight and then they made up again, but they had a big fight again yesterday.

I can't stand it. What would you advise me to do? Often I wish that I could leave home.

Mother was nearly divorced many times, but father followed her. Should I leave home and live with my chum's folks? They think it would be a better way.

LONELY FRECKLES.

Since you are only sixteen years old, there is little you can do except remain at home unless you have the consent of your mother to go to live in the home of your chum. Perhaps if you tell your mother how unhappy you are, she will be willing to let you do so. Of course, your own parents ought to support you even if you are not living at home.

When you are eighteen years old conditions will be better for you, because by that time you will be able to work and choose a place in which to live.

It's easy to practice medicine in a locality where malaria is more or less prevalent; your patient always has malaria whether he has or not.

Vacation Fiction

Today's Short Story, by Ad Schuster

When the handsome Earl Spring spoke of his two motor cars Irene Powers, not to be outdone, referred casually to a French maid and a positive trip abroad.

"This is what summer vacations are for," she excused herself, "health and exercise—exercise of the imagination." She appraised her companion critically, even admiringly. Certainly there was everything in his appearance to bear out his reference to wealth.

"What's more," Irene said to herself, "he might even fool me if I didn't know him better. Imagine, two motor cars—I bet he still owes for those white flannels!"

As the summer resort friendship ripened, the game of pretense became involved. Spring made no direct claims. Instead, he interpersed his conversation in off-hand manner with references to things which nothing save large sums of money could buy. Irene dug into the fields of fancy for glittering themes to match his and wondered if he would not discover the contradictions and discrepencies in her stories.

"I'll have to admit," she said, "he's more clever than I. There isn't a place one could pick him up." She sighed. What had been fun was becoming a bore. "He must think I am a simpleton to believe all this, and I wish—well, I wish he would like me."

When the vacation approached an end Irene was ready to confess her part in the deception and to see if he would do as much. Her mind was set upon this when she joined him for a walk on the path which bordered the lake, but Earl was thinking of something else. The girl who sought to put admission of pretence into words, realized she was listening to a proposal. Earl Spring wished her to marry him.

Maybe he was fooled, after all! Irene wondered if he were a fortune hunter and what he would say now when she told him she worked for a living. She listened until the proopsal was finished, then looked at the young man doubtfully.

"It's going to be a long answer, Earl," she said, "so don't jump at conclusions or—or at me. We've been talking of motor cars and maids and maybe you have thought I was foolish enough to believe everything you said. I wouldn't wish to start in on an engagement under false colors, and I wouldn't think of accepting a man who would deceive me."

Earl started to speak, but she went on.

"It was all like a game, wasn't it? One tried to put it on a little heavier than the other. I am a stenographer on a vacation, you work at Morgan's Department store in the city where I have seen you dozens of times. Now if you wish to propose on this understanding, if you will say you knew all the time those stories were in fun, I am ready to listen."

Earl Spring grinned broadly and repeated the proposal with a new enthusiasm. "Of course," he finished, "I knew you were fibbing all the time."

After a while the young man ventured upon a question: "Suppose I had stuck to my story?"

"Then I would have known that it had not been a game at all, but that you had picked me for a silly girl before whom you could show off. No, that would have been terrible. Besides, you know, I have seen you in Morgan's."

"It is settled, then, I am not a fortune hunter nor a liar and just a working person like you. And the answer for all time is 'yes'?"

That night Earl Spring sat on the pier and looked over the water. He wondered a little what his father would say, and smiled confidently in the knowledge that Irene would captivate the older man.

"I'm glad she admitted she was bluffing," he thought, "though for a while she had me going. When she finds out Dad owns Morgan's and has made me learn the business from the bottom, I wonder what she'll say?"

Beauty Chats

by Edna Kent Forbes

PERMANENT WAVES

THURS—BEAUTY CHATS ....

A well known specialist in producing "permanent" hair waving, says that thousands of years ago everyone had curly hair, but that with increasing culture ("wrongly applied" which I confess I can't understand) much of the natural waviness has disappeared until nowadays most of us have straight hair. Following this theory out logically, I suppose in time we'll all have straight hair and will look with wonder upon the portraits of ladies with ringlets and curls, or else we'll all be "permanently waved" in imitation.

Humidity, it appears, is the natural hair curler. To force straight hair to curl, one must enable it to absorb humidity. The process, which I once described in detail here, is to wind it on a curler very tightly, and to steam it, using either a borax or an oil solution. The steaming, and the action of the solution, opens the pores of the hair, that is, the many tiny cells of the hair shaft.

When the hair is unwound from its curler, it will, of course, be tightly twisted from the steaming. A shampoo, always given immediately, proves whether or not the treatment has taken. If not, if the cells have stayed closed, the hair goes straight. If it has been successful, the shampoo leaves every bit of the wave in, and will stay as long as the hair lasts. It will grow less, however.

Six months is really all a forced wave stays, though I've known some curliness to be there a year after. And meantime new straight hair is growing in; at least three and possibly six inches will grow during the half year.

Hair waved by machinery must be "water waved" when it is shampooed. This was once a process costing $1 to $3. But now you can buy combs which push the wet hair into waves for you.

Anxious—A list of foods to be eaten for reduction would take too much space to print. The foods to avoid are the starchy ones, all sweets and fats.

Facial massage will reduce the fleshiness that you say is unbecoming. If you do this work for yourself, be sure that you are properly informed as to the location of the different muscles and the correct movements to make. Use only enough cream on the finger tips to keep them from bruising or irritating the skin.

M. V. H.—For the enlarged toe joints, wear a heavy felt ring around each one. You can make these yourself by purchasing a small quantity of white piano felt, which is very thick, and also soft. Cut circular pieces and within each piece cut a round hole the size of the swollen joint. In wearing these around the joints, all pressure from the shoe is removed, giving the joint a chance to recover. There is not cure for a joint on which there is a bunion, but it can be relieved so it will never become any worse.

Tomorrow—Stout Women.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

FORM LETTERS

My Dear Followers:

The following rules of the column will have to be followed in asking for discussions and for material which we offer. Otherwise your letters cannot be given attention:

First: When you ask for material which we have offered, you must enclose a self-addressed and stamped envelope (s. a. s. e.). The address must include your full name, city or town, state and street number. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must also include 4 cents in loose stamps. Do not send money—it is too easily lost in the mails.

Second: Write legibly with pen or typewriter, and not more than 200 words. If your handwriting is not clear get someone to write for you.

Third: When you ask for material to be sent, have your s. a. s. e. at least a full-sized envelope. It is very difficult to stuff a whole pamphlet into a baby envelope.

Fourth: Address your letters to me in care of your paper. They will be forwarded to me at my office in New York City.

Fifth: Please sign your name as evidence of good faith. We promise that we shall not use it in any way.

Sixth: Do not ask for material to be sent you unless it is something we have offered to send inquirers. You may, however, ask me to write on any subject of general interest which I have not covered, and I will be glad to do so as soon as possible.

Seventh: Do not ask for diagnoses or for individual treatment. I could not safely give you these even if I had the time. This is the province of your personal physician.

Eighth: Allow at least three weeks to elapse before thinking your request for material has gone astray or is ignored. And allow very much longer than that for an answer to appear in the column, if it can appear there.

Ninth: Watch my answers to correspondents and articles each day for something similar to the question you want discussed, and consider yourself answered when you see that, whether your initials are appended or not. Many people ask the same question and I must answer them all together to save time and space.

Unless all of the first seven rules are complied with your letter cannot receive any attention. I dislike to have to put all of these restrictions on you, but unless you do follow them it is going to be impossible for us to handle our mail.

If you will remember that my "Diet and Health" is a syndicated feature, appearing all over the United States and Canada and in every section of the country creating great interest, you will realize the extent of my mail. I want to be able to read all of your letters. They are an inspiration and a help to me, but I shall not be able to do it unless you follow these rules because of the tremendous number of them.

You may never see your answer under your own initials, for in the column I can answer very few and I try to choose those letters by the answering of which I can help the largest number. Probably 90 per cent of our letters have to do with the question of reducing, so, naturally, that subject being of the greatest interest—and, incidentally, of the greatest general importance—there will be a great deal on that subject always.

You will find I have to repeat my advice very often. But it is by repetitions that we learn, so that is desirable. I shall prepare many of my articles so that you can get them again by sending the s. a. s. e. and following the other directions. But, unless I have written on a subject and have offered to send it to you, it will not be available for distribution.

Please remember that I cannot take the place of your family physician; I cannot make diagnoses for you, nor treat you personally, nor write individual diets. I appreciate very much the wonderful confidence you are showing in me, but if you think for a moment you can realize that diagnoses and personal treatment would be impossible. I can only take up in the column questions that will be of general interest to all my readers.

I feel like adding a tenth rule. It is this: Save some of your 200 words to continue telling me how you enjoy the column and how much help you are getting from it. For that is an inspiration to me and, of course, makes my work happier.

I shall probably have to run this article just as it is once a month at least to keep the newcomers in column order and probably to remind you, too, though I hope you will help me and hasten my reply to you by remembering to observe our rules.

The following crochet directions are for a slip-on sweater-blouse, size 36 to 38, made with either two-fold lustre wool, two-fold lustre iceland, two-fold lustre floss, or three-fold fingering yarn. But, no matter which of these yarns you use, you will need eight balls of dark blue and one ball of olive green. This makes a harmonious over-blouse to wear with a knife-pleated dark blue skirt. A No. 3 bone crochet hook is used.

Back: With the blue yarn, make a ch. of 95 sts. Row 1: Work 94 S. C. on ch., ch. 2, turn. Row 2: Draw up a loop in first two sts., * yarn over needle, draw through all three loops on hook, ch. 1, draw up a loop in next two sts., repeat from * across, ch. 1, tnrn.

Row Three: Work 1 S. C. in first space to right of single thread, between the puff st. of preceding row, * 1 S. C. in next space to the left of single thread, 1 S. C. in next space to the right of single thread, repeat from * across, having 94 S. C. in all, ch. 2, turn.

Repeat Rows 2 and 3 for body and sleeves of sweater. Work seven rows, ending with one row of S. C., * then work six rows of plain afghan st., 7 rows pattern, starting and ending with S. C. row, repeat from * until there are three stripes of afghan st. Now follow the two pattern rows until back measures 18 inches from start, next row add a ch. of 20 sts. at each end (for sleeves). Work one row on all sts., then add a ch. of 20 sts., again at each end, on next S. C. there should be 174 S. C. across.

When sleeve measures 5½ inches in widest part, start at end of one sleeve on S. C. row, work 76 S. C., work three rows more on 76 sts., then increase two S. C. toward the neck on each S. C. row, eight times, work an extra puff on these two S. C. on each row.

Continue on all sts. until sleeve measures 10 inches at cuff, end, then decrease sleeve same as increased and on remaining sts. work until "V" of neck measures 8 inches. Work second side this far, leaving 22 S. C. in center back for neck. Now work across one front, ch. 2, work across second front. There should now be 102 S C. in each S. C. row. Finish front to correspond with back.

The olive green yarn is used for buttonholing at neck, edge of sleeve (instead of having cuffs) and lower edge of blouse.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use your full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

Side Talks

by Ruth Cameron

A NEW NAME FOR TACT

I have just learned a new name for an old virtue.

We used to call it tact. Gelett Burgess, in a magazine article, calls it the educated heart.

I like the new name better. Here's the sort of thing which it describes perfectly:

Two mothers from our summer colony sat chatting on the porch one afternoon when the conversation veered round to schools.

Teacher Said . . .

"My Mary is getting along beautifully in school," said the younger mother proudly. "She finished the third grade in June and she is only eight years old, you know. The teacher said she was the best reader in the class:

"That's splendid!" was the other mother's hearty response. "She surely is a bright little girl. I don't wonder that you feel proud of her."

Now I knew that the second mother also has an eight-year-old daughter who finished the fourth grade with honors this year.

"Why didn't you tell her about Marjorie?" I asked after Mary's mother had left us.

"Why should I?" she replied. "It would have taken all of the joy out of her little story about Mary. 'Going her one better' wouldn't have added to my happiness and it surely would have detracted from hers. Why spoil her proud little moment?"

A Big Temptation

Why, indeed? But how many mothers could have resisted an opportunity like that for showing off the superior attainments of her child?

Mary's mother has an educated heart.

We do love to be superior and to tell of it. But the people of the educated heart never tell, especially if they are likely to put someone to shame by the contrast.

I remember last Thanksgiving overhearing a conversation on the street car. A pleasant looking little woman with her arms full of bundles and her hat a bit awry was speaking.

A Very Uneducated Heart

"I've just been down to the City Market to buy our turkey. The place was awfully crowded but I got a nice little eight-pound bird for only 45 cents a pound."

"Oh, I couldn't eat one of those City Market turkeys," said her friend (?), "I ordered a fifteen-pound one from our milkman. It's more expensive, of course, but John says when we buy a turkey he believes in doing it right and getting a good one that you are sure where it comes from."

There was a heart badly in need of education.

You and I wouldn't be so ignorant as that, of course. But are our hearts so highly educated that they never betray us into any unkind or unsympathetic breaks?

I shouldn't wonder but what all of us need to watch out a bit.

Tomorrow—A Ruined Meal.

"Yessuh, I's done proved dat honesty is de best policy after all."

"How?" demanded his friend.

"You remembers dat dawg dat I took?"

"Shore, I remembers."

"Well, suh, I tries fo' two whole days to sell dat dawg and nobody offers mor'n a dollah. So, like an honest man, I goes to de lady dat owned him an' she gives me $3.50."—The Continent.

One stock exchange man saved $132,000 in two years on a $10,000 yearly salary, an example of thrift which would be hard to beat. Young man, save your money.

Lloyd George says we are within our rights in confiscating liquor from British ships. That's good. Now we can go right ahead.

ary highways for a width of 80 feet at half-mile intervals, and the third-class a width of 60 feet at quarter mile intervals, as nearly as the character of the terrain to be traversed permits.

In his address before the board Mr. Whitnall dealt at length with the duties and the plans of the regional planning commission in its work of bringing the development of the entire metropolitan area of Los Angeles, consisting of 800 square miles, into one composite and harmonious whole, emphasizing the necessity of coordinating the activities and the plans of every separate political entity with those of neighboring communities.

C. D. Thom in Chair

President C. D. Thom, who has been absent for the past six weeks, was in the chair at yesterday's meeting.

A letter to the board from the president of the State Torrens Title company was read by Secretary E. P. Hayward, the writer asking a representative of the company be given an opportunity to address the Glendale Realty board on the Torrens system at some date to be set by the board. It was decided by the members that the program committee be instructed to set a date for the address.

Dr. Jessie A. Russell, chairman of the caravan committee from the San Fernando valley to the annual convention of the California Real Estate association at Sacramento in October, requested that all members who intend to go to the convention with the motorcade notify her immediately.

cific system, as previously announced, included fifty powerful locomotives, making a total of more than 100 within the last twelve months; 141 passenger train cars; 4525 freight cars, and other equipment which, with the company's half interest in the 5330 refrigerator cars for the Pacific Fruit Express, represent an investment of $40,000,000.

FAITH IN OLD SAYING

RUBY MILLS WEDS H. BRANDSTETTER

San Fernando Girl and Home Run Hitting First Sacker Start New Team

One of Sunland's best liked young men and one of San Fernando's fairest daughters stepped to the altar and were married on Tuesday, August 21, 1923.

Ruby Fay Mills was the bride and Herbert Brandstetter was the groom. The ceremony took place in San Fernando.

Miss Mills is well known to, and popular with the local younger set.

Mr. Brandstetter is also known throughout the valley and his friends are legion. He was until recently employed at the Sunland Ripe Olive Cannery, but is now connected with the Caldwell Feed and Fuel Company of Tujunga.

Baseball fans who attend the games att Monte Vista park know him as "Dutch," a good-natured first baseman, who is always 'in there' trying for Tujunga Valley victories. He recently added to his popularity by getting two home runs in one game. When interviewed concerning his latest venture he said that he expects to make at least one "home run" every day. That will be to a Sunland bungalow.

brought up for discussion. The importance of this was emphasized by Mr. Graves. Attorney Tarr asserted that Miss Marr's legal interference has prevented the connection of the mains, which have been installed for some time, with the district disposal plant, which has been ready for some time also. He said that the proceedings will be revived as soon as printed copies of the amendments to the 1911 street-act become available in about two weeks.

F. B. Newport Speaks

F. B. Newport of Los Angeles, founder of the F. P. Newport Company, entered the discussion at this time. He expressed his opinion that not one improvement proceeding out of fifty could be found without some slight technical legal error. He called attention to Miss Marr's persistent obstruction to the development of Verdugo Woodlands which he stated has cost the district thousands of dollars.

Improvement of streets was the next subject. C. J. Weed of 1635 Del Valle avenue expressed his opinion that ninety per cent of the property owners want the streets properly improved. He said that he would like to see all pipe laid before the commencement of paving. For his own part he said that he wanted to see a good, substantial paving with gutters, curbs, sidewalks and ornamental lights in front of his property.

Talk Water Ratese

Every effort should be made to settle the sewer controversy before the paving of the streets, according to Mr. Newport. This suggestion was endorsed by Mr. Graves, who stated that he had never seen a city yet where, as soon as a street was paved, it was not torn up immediately. He suggested the use of a five-foot right-of-way in the rear of the lots for telephone and electricity lines and sewer mains.

Transfer of the electric line from Del Valle avenue to the rear of the property was recommended by Mrs. J. R. Butler of 1631 Del Valle avenue.

Water rates were discussed briefly. Mr. Newport stated that the original investment in the two reservoirs had been about $36,000. These were presented to the city administration, in addition to another reservoir site worth about $7500, with the understanding that water rates in Verdugo canyon should be no higher than in any other section of the community.

The Newport company, which had controlled the water supply previous to turning its plant over to the city administration, had charged only a nominal fee for its service, according to Mr. Newport. He stated that this had not been sufficient for maintenance and that it was only natural that it should be raised by the public service department.

Discussion of telephone service was laid on the table after L. H. Myers of 1601 Camulos avenue had called attention to the fact that the matter is being handled by a committee of the Chamber of Commerce. His recommendation that a committee should be appointed to co-operate was adopted.

The possibility of getting a fire station for Verdugo Canyon was mentioned favorably by Mr. Newport. The importance of maintaining building restrictions in Verdugo Woodlands also was emphasized by Mr. Newport. He asserted that they will do much to preserve the high quality of the property.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 30.—Mrs. Miriam H. Simmons, former wife of the late Abe Hammerstein, theatrical man of New York, and known about artists' studios as the modern Venus de Milo, was granted a divorce here late yesterday from James P. Simmons. Mrs. Simmons is known professionally as Miriam De Milo.

BURBANK

LOAN ASSOCIATION BUILDING STARTS

Foundations Strong Enough to Carry Second Floor When Necessary

The new structure of the Burbank Building and Loan Association is now on its way, on the Olive avenue lot owned by the company just above the Wilson & Welch drug store and below the Christian church.

The frontage of fifty feet will be fully occupied. Although the building will be but one story high at the present time, foundations and walls are being built sufficiently strong to sustain another story later.

Excavation is in charge of Cecil Lockwood.

N. T. Truell and R. J. Clabaugh are associated with the savings and life insurance departments, which will be added features of the association's expanded activities.

This combination of life insurance and savings investments is made possible by Messrs. Truell and Clabaugh writing insurance on the installment plan and linking it with installment investment certificates in the Burbank Building and Loan Association. Payments are made to the association.

Unique Theory

Mr. Callaway, who does a little trucking himself and therefore is interested in the subject, advocates that trucks and busses should be compelled to build their own highways, just as the railroads do.

"For," he argues, and very reasonably, too, "are not such companies making money out of the roads? There is no reason why the taxpayers as a whole should build these roads for private companies, especially when they are competing with the railroads, which are heavily taxed.

"These truck and bus companies should be required to build and maintain separate highways of their own, apart from the regular automobile boulevards," very reasonably argues Mr. Callaway, who adds that the Burbank ordinance limiting the truck load on twenty principal streets was ridiculous and that the amended ordinance, allowing a three-ton load, is "more like it."

Big Service Station

Work is under way on a $10,000 Union station at the corner of San Fernando boulevard and Providencia avenue, with plans for occupying the 92x100 feet of space with one of the largest establishments of this type in the city.

It will be the regulation station put up by the Union Oil Company, built of steel throughout and painted the Union colors. The work is in charge of J. W. Rawley, whose business with the company is the putting in of these stations.

Mrs. Rawley and children have joined her husband and are much impressed with Burbank. At present they are living at 556 Magnolia avenue and plan to make this city their permanent home, as it is their conclusion there is no better place for people of moderate means.

Colony of Hongkong has a population of a little less than 1,000,000, of which about 10,000 are Europeans and Americans, and 20,000 Japanese.
